What is life like for you beyond work?

What's one important insight that you think Kuyper's work provides for theology and academic work at our current asked Jordan to answer a few questions about his work at Calvin and beyond.

Dr. Jordan Ballor has served as coordinator of the Kuyper Prize and Conference at Calvin University since 2018. We scholars around the world.

As the newest of Calvin University's

DVI Team Member Profile: Jordan Ballor

Click here to read the

Its current work is focused on research done by African theologians.

World Christianity can change perspectives, foster knowledge, and reinvigorate Christian thought and practice. Nagel has sponsored a

Institute for the Study of World Christianity

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is among other roles at Duke and as provost and executive vice president of Baylor University. Jones has also held strategic reading While Black: African American Biblical Interpretation as an Exercise in Hope

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Institutional change is especially crucial for faith-based institutions, as they do their work out of deep resources of tradition and

Prof. Mesick noted that the group included biblical scholars, sociologists, economists, liturgical scholars. There were also several different cultures responsible reading of Scripture.

book

in the spread of Christianity and explored how trust is so important in renewing them (and developing new versions of them)

One of the first goals of this group was to promote the gospel message across the globe—"to resistance to the gospel message and its witness in challenging contexts, often with no public recognition," said Padilla DeBorst.

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in DeBorst has been involved in leadership development in Latin America for several decades. She

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in

"I am humbled and honored to be chosen as a recipient of the Kuyper Prize, recognizing that there are

America.

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

L. Gregory Jones at Calvin’s January Series

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Jones is known as a leader and strategist whose creative engagement has helped institutions across the world create

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

I am married to Amy. We have three children, one each in elementary, junior, and senior high school. I enjoy reflected in his personal life, and it must

must

asked Jordan to answer a few questions about his work at Calvin and beyond.

Dr. Jordan Ballor has served as coordinator of the Kuyper Prize and Conference at Calvin University since 2018. We scholars around the world.

As the newest of Calvin University's

DVI Team Member Profile: Jordan Ballor

Click here to read the

Its current work is focused on research done by African theologians.

World Christianity can change perspectives, foster knowledge, and reinvigorate Christian thought and practice. Nagel has sponsored a

Institute for the Study of World Christianity

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is among other roles at Duke and as provost and executive vice president of Baylor University. Jones has also held strategic

reading While Black: African American Biblical Interpretation as an Exercise in Hope

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Institutional change is especially crucial for faith-based institutions, as they do their work out of deep resources of tradition and

Prof. Mesick noted that the group included biblical scholars, sociologists, economists, liturgical scholars. There were also several different cultures

responsible reading of Scripture.

book

in the spread of Christianity and explored how trust is so important in renewing them (and developing new versions of them)

One of the first goals of this group was to promote the gospel message across the globe—"to

resistance to the gospel message and its witness in challenging contexts, often with no public recognition," said Padilla DeBorst.

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in DeBorst has been involved in leadership development in Latin America for several decades. She

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in

"I am humbled and honored to be chosen as a recipient of the Kuyper Prize, recognizing that there are

America.

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

L. Gregory Jones at Calvin’s January Series

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Jones is known as a leader and strategist whose creative engagement has helped institutions across the world create

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

I am married to Amy. We have three children, one each in elementary, junior, and senior high school. I enjoy

reflected in his personal life, and it

must

must

asked Jordan to answer a few questions about his work at Calvin and beyond.

Dr. Jordan Ballor has served as coordinator of the Kuyper Prize and Conference at Calvin University since 2018. We scholars around the world.

As the newest of Calvin University's

DVI Team Member Profile: Jordan Ballor

Click here to read the

Its current work is focused on research done by African theologians.

World Christianity can change perspectives, foster knowledge, and reinvigorate Christian thought and practice. Nagel has sponsored a

Institute for the Study of World Christianity

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is among other roles at Duke and as provost and executive vice president of Baylor University. Jones has also held strategic

reading While Black: African American Biblical Interpretation as an Exercise in Hope

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Institutional change is especially crucial for faith-based institutions, as they do their work out of deep resources of tradition and

Prof. Mesick noted that the group included biblical scholars, sociologists, economists, liturgical scholars. There were also several different cultures

responsible reading of Scripture.

book

in the spread of Christianity and explored how trust is so important in renewing them (and developing new versions of them)

One of the first goals of this group was to promote the gospel message across the globe—"to

resistance to the gospel message and its witness in challenging contexts, often with no public recognition," said Padilla DeBorst.

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in DeBorst has been involved in leadership development in Latin America for several decades. She

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in

"I am humbled and honored to be chosen as a recipient of the Kuyper Prize, recognizing that there are

America.

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

L. Gregory Jones at Calvin’s January Series

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Jones is known as a leader and strategist whose creative engagement has helped institutions across the world create

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

N.T. Wright, “Beyond Cliché,” Faculty Development Event

I am married to Amy. We have three children, one each in elementary, junior, and senior high school. I enjoy

reflected in his personal life, and it

must

must

asked Jordan to answer a few questions about his work at Calvin and beyond.

Dr. Jordan Ballor has served as coordinator of the Kuyper Prize and Conference at Calvin University since 2018. We scholars around the world.

As the newest of Calvin University's

DVI Team Member Profile: Jordan Ballor

Click here to read the

Its current work is focused on research done by African theologians.

World Christianity can change perspectives, foster knowledge, and reinvigorate Christian thought and practice. Nagel has sponsored a

Institute for the Study of World Christianity

Meet Our Advisory Council

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is among other roles at Duke and as provost and executive vice president of Baylor University. Jones has also held strategic

reading While Black: African American Biblical Interpretation as an Exercise in Hope

The author or editor of 19 books, Jones's most recent book is

Institutional change is especially crucial for faith-based institutions, as they do their work out of deep resources of tradition and

Prof. Mesick noted that the group included biblical scholars, sociologists, economists, liturgical scholars. There were also several different cultures

responsible reading of Scripture.

book

in the spread of Christianity and explored how trust is so important in renewing them (and developing new versions of them)

One of the first goals of this group was to promote the gospel message across the globe—"to

resistance to the gospel message and its witness in challenging contexts, often with no public recognition," said Padilla DeBorst.

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in DeBorst has been involved in leadership development in Latin America for several decades. She

On April 6, Ruth Padilla DeBorst will accept the 2022 Abraham Kuyper Prize for Excellence in

"I am humbled and honored to be chosen as a recipient of the Kuyper Prize, recognizing that there are

America.