PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Welcome to a chance to dwell with the arts.

In a culture that over esteems speed and convenience, the 2019–2020 lineup of artistic expressions at Calvin frees us to slow down. In this season, we aim to dwell together in the presence of God, one another, and the art we create.

If we’re honest, we long for dwelling. Whether it means overstaying the time carved out for conversation with a friend, or taking the opportunity to view a moving film one more time—chances to dwell are rare but valuable.

Being radically present in our own lives points us to a larger, eternal story. When we notice the details of the world around us, we notice how God is at work in our midst. We need not always make haste; sometimes we must be still and just know.

“In this culture,” Professor of English Lew Klatt has said, “we’re moving so quickly, so fast, and often uncritically; and we’re missing so many things.”

Perhaps that’s why he calls his craft of poetry “a habit of paying attention.” Likewise, participating in other art forms—such as painting, sculpting, composing, performing, acting, and dancing—can also instill this habit in us.

As we at Calvin strive to let the word of Christ dwell in us richly, we take the time to study and create art of various forms. Through it all we yearn for the day when we will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

President, Calvin University
Calvin University is internationally recognized as a center of faith-anchored liberal arts teaching and scholarship. Founded in 1876 by the Christian Reformed Church and named for the sixteenth-century reformer John Calvin, the university welcomes students from an array of faith traditions. At Calvin, they discover a distinctive meld of Christian worldview and fearless academic inquiry.

Occupying 390 wooded acres in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Calvin’s modern campus offers students remarkable resources: sophisticated scientific and communications facilities, elegant performance spaces, an excellent library and a flourishing 100-acre ecosystem preserve. Grand Rapids, a metropolitan area of one million, hosts a professional ballet, opera and symphony; a botanical and sculpture garden; the international art competition, ArtPrize; four sports franchises; and many other urban amenities.
The 2019-2020 theme of Dwelling Together provides an important counter to a culture that values speed and efficiency. It asks us to slow down and to linger with people, ideas, and artistic expressions. Dwelling asks us to welcome each other and to make our home together. Through various creative pathways, we seek to build a sustaining and sustainable community that cares for its people and its environment. Join us as we explore, question, and consider what it means to “dwell well” with each other. Welcome to the 2019-2020 Create.Unite.Renew season!

Audubon, Van Ast, and Wolterstorff Exhibitions

September 3–October 19

Center Art Gallery

This fall, the Center Art Gallery invites us to consider the spaces in which we dwell. The Permanent Collection Gallery highlights images new to Calvin’s collection: selected prints from Audubon’s Birds of America featuring species that make this continent home. Gallery 1 showcases furniture from the private collection of Nicholas and Claire Wolterstorff, and Gallery 2 features work by alumni artist, John Van Ast, whose wood-turned vessels prompt us to consider source and resources, learning from and listening to materials. Each exhibition combines spheres of art, functionality, and design.

Exhibition Reception

September 25, 6-9 p.m.  ❂ Center Art Gallery

Join for a celebratory reception and opportunity to meet the artists and collectors. Refreshments served.

Sponsored by the Center Art Gallery

Dwelling: Our Watershed in Image and Word

On View October 18–November 29
Center Art Gallery Hallway

Calvin’s Plaster Creek Stewards program (PCS) continues its 10-year anniversary celebration with an exhibition of student photography and poetry. PCS is a collaboration of Calvin faculty, staff, and students working with local schools, churches, and community partners to restore the health and beauty of the Plaster Creek Watershed in Grand Rapids. Through image and word, the exhibition asks viewers, “What does it mean to dwell faithfully in the Plaster Creek Watershed, and how does our research, education, creativity, and restoration influence the ways we think about and connect with our communities and the places we call home?”

Lecture and Exhibition Reception
October 26 Time TBA
Center Art Gallery
Sponsored by the Center Art Gallery and Plaster Creek Stewards.

CALL Lectures at 3: Panel Conversation with Plaster Creek Stewards

A Wrinkle in Time
November 8, 9, 14, 15, 16 7:30 p.m.
November 13 10 a.m.
Gezon Auditorium

by Madeleine L’Engle, adapted by John Glore
Directed by Dr. Debra Freeberg

A Wrinkle in Time, L’Engle’s beloved children’s classic, takes to the Gezon stage in November, as the Calvin Theatre Company explores what it means to dwell in home and hope. Meg Murray, with braces, stubbornness and her fierce love of family, battles the forces of evil to rescue her father, save her family and perhaps even the world. Joining forces with three mysterious women—Mrs. Whatsit, Mrs. Who, and Mrs. Which—her brother Charles Wallace, and the dreamy Calvin O’Keefe, Meg travels across galaxies to wrest her father and Charles Wallace from the darkness of IT. Though harrowing at times, the story proves two things: first, that Love can overcome Evil and, second, there is such a thing as a Tesseract! Audiences ages 5 to 105 will be captivated by this vivid theatrical retelling of A Wrinkle in Time.

Sponsored by Calvin Theatre Company and the Communication Department

Chez Moi
Fall French Film Festival

Enjoy the best of French Cinema at Calvin each fall. In four contemporary French films, main characters grapple with changes to their home space through death, catastrophic injury, illegal refugee status, or long-term consequences of migrant worker politics. All films are subtitled in English and will be screened at 7:30 September 16, 19, 23, and 26 in the Bytwerk Theater, which is in the basement of the DeVos Communication Center. All are welcome and admission is free! For film titles, see page 17, and for descriptions, see calvin.edu/academics/departments-programs/french/film-festival/

John James Audubon: Selections from the Permanent Collection
September 3–January 28
Center Art Gallery: Permanent Collection Gallery

A curated selection of prints from the complete 1966 set of Audubon’s Birds of America. Originally published between 1827 and 1838, Birds of America contains over 400 colored illustrations made from engraved plates—images featuring a vast array of birds that dwell in the United States. Enjoy a look into this recent addition to Calvin’s permanent collection.

Co-sponsored by the Hekman Library. Calvin thanks the late Udean Burke for the generous donation to the Calvin permanent collection.

Wolterstorff Collection Exhibition
September 3–October 19
Center Art Gallery: Gallery 1

Wegner chairs: selections from the private collection of Nicholas and Claire Wolterstorff. Danish designer Hans Jørgensen Wegner (1914-2007) is world renowned for his Scandinavian-style Mid-century Modern aesthetic: his clean lines and life-as-art approach blur boundaries between functionality, art, and design.

I Only Enhance What’s Already There: John Van Ast
September 3–October 19
Center Art Gallery: Gallery 2

Artist and woodturner John Van Ast creates work that reveals the natural beauty of its source. He shares: “Turning is a pilgrimage, getting away from daily routine and self imposed expectations...Wood enhances my senses—the beauty, the color, the smell, the texture...Wood communicates with me, whether the tree is standing, cut up into logs or planks, if only I know how to listen.” Van Ast’s work invites us to consider materials, process, space, and our environment.
