Notice to Students:
Revisions to the 2014-2015 Student Handbook are currently in process and will be online soon. Please be aware that The Safer Spaces Policy, adopted by the college in May, 2014, supersedes any related policies in this handbook. The policy can be found online here: http://www.calvin.edu/about/safer-spaces/.
Please also note that the Student Conduct Code, found at the following URL supersedes any policies located in this Student Handbook:
Welcome to the Calvin Community!

The fundamental principle for community resides first of all in a cohesive purpose. However like-minded or diverse its members may be, the community exists to enact a purpose; in the case of Calvin College that purpose is to shape hearts and minds through higher learning for Christian living. Therefore, the end of individuals working in community is always larger than any individual self-interest...Our roles vary widely, but each person fills an important and necessary role in the mosaic of people that form Calvin's community. Despite the complexity and multiplicity of tasks in the college, despite what seems at times to be fragmentation into departments for teachers, majors for students, specialties for staff, the intrinsic and irreducible unity of the Calvin College community inheres in the fact that all these diverse tasks are directed to one fundamental mission of the College. The tasks of our daily life together are guided by faithfulness to the Word. We aim to be conformed more and more to the likeness of God incarnate, willing to receive the mind and heart of Jesus. We also aim to be agents of reclamation, reconciliation, and renewal. We believe that we are individually gifted by God to be such agents of a common aim.

SAFETY AND SECURITY

PERSONAL PRECAUTIONS

Calvin students are not exempt from threats to their personal safety and should use precautionary measures to minimize existing dangers and hazards in the environment. Although living with constant fear is unnecessary and unhealthy, students should be aware of safeguards that deter possible victimization. Here are a few basic suggestions:

1) Always keep the door(s) of your residence locked. If applicable, place a thin block of wood in the inside track of sliding glass doors to restrict entry.

2) Always keep your car doors locked. Do not leave valuables in your car while it is unattended.

3) Unsecured bicycles invite theft. Purchase a bike lock and secure your bike to a stationary object. Also, register your bike with Campus Safety. The registration is free and is mandatory if you are going to have your bike on campus.

4) Identify expensive and/or important belongings with some type of permanent identification, such as marking them with a metal engraver. Students can borrow a metal engraver from the Campus Safety Office.

5) Get to know your neighbors and agree to alert each other to suspicious persons and/or unusual events. In addition to taking basic precautions, you should also be aware of the possibility of personal assault and robbery (particularly if you are an off-campus student, commuter, or a student who frequently travels throughout the city).

Visitors to Your Home. First, do not allow anyone into your home until you know who they are. If able, determine who is at your door before you open it—either by looking through the peephole or an adjacent window. If a stranger is at the door, do not hesitate to ask for two or three pieces of identification. Strangers should not become hostile when asked to verify their identity. If you do accidentally let someone in while you are home alone, make them think someone else is there by mentioning you have a sleeping roommate or spouse in the home.

Use caution when dealing with people in uniforms. Wearing a uniform does not automatically mean that someone has legitimate business. If a police officer comes to your door, ask to see their badge and identification. If a meter-reader knocks, ask him/her to wait while you call the utility company to see if readings are being made in your neighborhood on that day. If the person claims to be a door-to-door salesperson, call your neighbors on either side to determine whether the person has been to their homes.

Personal Address. If you live alone, especially if you are female, list only your first initial instead of your entire name on your mailbox. You can also add other names behind your own. A made up person can share your box even if they do not receive any mail.

Voice Mail Messages. If you are setting up voice mail on your cell phone try to offer as little personal information as possible. Avoid using your name in the recording, especially if you live alone or are a female living with one or more females.

Self-Protection in Your Home. It is important to realize that whatever you present as a weapon can be taken away and used against you. This is particularly true in the case of a knife. If an assailant does not have a knife, you should never introduce one into the situation. Rather, you should consider defending yourself with make-shift items (i.e., things in your environment that you could use as a weapon or shield). These make-shift weapons should be thrust straight into the assailant's face or neck with short, powerful jabs. Short, straight thrusts are more difficult to block and deflect than downward strikes or horizontal swings. Other tactics to defend yourself might include either spraying something, or throwing any sort of powdery substance into the assailant's eyes. Such an action momentarily blinds the assailant, providing you a chance to escape.

Safe Transportation. Your susceptibility to an assault or mugging is greater when you leave your residence simply because you have less protection around you (although the majority of date rapes and sexual assaults occur in either the victim's or assailant's residence). Whatever means of transportation you use to reach your destination, there are several security measures that can add to your security when traveling. If you are using a vehicle for transportation, be certain that it is properly maintained and that you always have adequate gasoline to get you to your destination.

When you are driving, keep your doors locked at all times, and, if possible, keep your windows closed.
Keep your car in gear at stop lights. If someone tries to enter your car, blow your horn and drive away as quickly as possible. If you break down in an isolated area, stay inside your car with the doors locked and the windows up. If someone wants to help, ask them to call for assistance if you don’t have a cell phone with you. If you break down or run out of gasoline on the highway, do not leave your car if you are alone. Call for help. There is the possibility that eventually the police or someone else will offer assistance. If you are with a group and you want to walk ahead, walk with at least one other person.

If you see a stranded motorist, it is not safe to stop to help unless you know the driver. If you want to help, call for assistance for the stranded motorist. Many people, especially women, are robbed or attacked when they stop to help someone who seems to have car trouble.

When using public transportation, wait in busy, well-lit areas. Sit near the driver, especially if the bus is nearly empty. When you exit the bus, be aware of those who may depart with you.

Jay-Walking. Some students choose to cross the East Beltline at very hazardous locations. Since most traffic travels the East Beltline between 50-60 miles/hour, jay-walking across the East Beltline is extremely dangerous. Calvin's Crossing provides members of the Calvin community a safe and efficient means for crossing the East Beltline rather than jay-walking. Community members who choose to ignore this policy may be subject to a fine and/or disciplinary action.

Walking On/Off Campus. The safest time to walk anywhere is during daylight hours. If you must walk at night, walk on well-lit routes. Use the walking paths available on-campus. If sidewalks are dark, walk near curbs or on the side of street. Walk facing oncoming traffic to minimize the chance of being surprised from behind. If you frequently walk to the same destination at approximately the same time, vary your route occasionally. Walk briskly and with purpose. If you appear to know where you are going, you are less likely to be followed.

If you suspect that someone is following you, do not hesitate to confidently turn around to check if you are being followed. If your suspicions are confirmed, make noise-- scream, blow a whistle, or make a scene.
Noise is often successful in preventing an attack. If someone in a car is following you, turn and run in the opposite direction than the car is headed. If you are being followed and you know that no one is at your home, do not stop; continue on to a neighbor's house.

Mugging/Robbery. When walking, it is advisable not to carry large amounts of cash. In addition, keeping your house key separate from your purse or backpack is important. If your assailant is armed, do not resist. Protect yourself; you are more valuable than your possessions. Make every effort to observe identifying features and characteristics of an assailant. Try to obtain the make, model, year, and license plate number of a car if one is involved. Note the exact time and location of the incident, and the direction of the escape. If you are a victim of a crime while off campus, you need to report the crime to the appropriate law enforcement agency. A list of phone numbers for local law enforcement agencies can be found at the Campus Safety web site under the resources tab.

Thefts or Loss of Property. Thefts, loss of property, or any other incidents involving the safety or security of the students or the college should be reported to the Campus Safety Department immediately. If you live on campus, notify your RD or RA if you need to report a theft or loss of property. If you are a victim of a crime while off campus, you need to report the crime to the appropriate law enforcement agency. A list of phone numbers for local law enforcement agencies can be found at the Campus Safety web site under the resources tab.

Fire Alarm. The fire alarm is a continuous or pulsed blast of the fire horn. All classes should be dismissed at once. You must leave the building, using the nearest exit. Fire exit routes are posted in each classroom and meeting room space. Once you exit the building you need to move at least 300 feet away from the building. Each building has designated gathering places outside. You can see the fire evacuation policy along with maps that show the gathering places for each building at the Campus Safety web site: http://www.calvin.edu/admin/campus-safety/policies-procedures/emergency-response-plan.html. You will be notified by Campus Safety or an Emergency Liaison when it is safe to return to the building.

Medical Emergencies. Anyone who has a medical emergency while on campus is encouraged to contact the Campus Safety Department for medical assistance. Campus Safety employees are trained as first responders, who have been taught basic first aid, CPR and use of an AED. Campus Safety employees also escort medical personnel to the scene of any campus medical emergency. To ensure a quicker response to any type of medical situation, call Campus Safety Dispatch at 616-526-3333 for emergencies or 616-526-6452 for non-emergencies.

Severe Winter Weather. The Campus Safety Dispatcher is kept informed about weather conditions through the National Weather Service. Normal class schedules will be maintained during a weather alert unless otherwise directed.

In the event of a tornado warning, classes will be suspended immediately, and all persons must take cover in the nearest designated tornado shelter away from glass doors and windows. As a general policy, Calvin College does not close normal operations due to severe winter weather. Exceptions are made only when it is clear that college facilities cannot be used due to heating, electrical or other mechanical failure, or when public and campus roadways are impassable.

In the context of this "no close" policy, the college does not expect students or faculty/staff to take unreasonable risks in coming to the campus during times of severe weather or hazardous driving conditions. Students and faculty/staff will not be penalized for deciding that conditions, on the basis of their own individual good judgment, are too treacherous to come to the campus. Furthermore, when such weather conditions prevail, faculty will do everything possible to facilitate the students' efforts to obtain any information missed due to weather conditions.

In those rare circumstances when the campus must be closed, local radio and TV stations will be notified for regular reporting to the public. Additionally the emergency notification system will be used to send text and voice messages along with e-mails to anyone who has signed up to receive them.
When this is done, it will be based upon the best judgment of the administration after assessing the severity of road conditions, carefully weighing the risks to commuters, and taking into account the welfare of the college community and its many individual members.

Emergency Response Plan. Calvin College has an Emergency Response Plan that provides guidelines on how to respond to different types of emergencies. Students and employees of the college can access the Emergency Response Plan through the Calvin website. Students and employees can also sign up to receive alerts for weather emergencies and threats to their personal safety through the emergency notification system. The plan and the link to sign up for emergency notifications are located on the Campus Safety web page at http://www.calvin.edu/admin/campus-safety/.

Travel During Breaks. Calvin schedules several short breaks in the academic calendar which include a two-day academic advising and Interim break. Some of these breaks occur during months of potentially hazardous weather. These breaks, unlike Christmas and Spring Break, are not intended to accommodate significant travel by students, yet some students persist in driving long distances to reach their destinations. These trips tax the physical endurance of drivers and passengers and put them at the mercy of weather that can suddenly turn hazardous. In the past, several serious car accidents have resulted from travelling during these breaks, so the college strongly discourages students from taking long road trips during these short breaks.

Sexual Assault

In the Event of A Sexual Assault
- Go to a safe place.
- Call a safe person. Don’t try to go through this alone. You are not to blame!
- Preserve evidence. Don’t bathe or brush your teeth. It’s best not to even change clothes, but if you do, save each item of clothing in a separate paper bag.
- If on-campus, call Campus Safety at ext. 3-3333 or 24-hour dispatch at 616-526-6452.
  *For Residence Hall students, you can also call the Resident Director (RD) on call at 616-540-8732.
- Call 776-RAPE (7273) the 24-hour Rape Crisis Hotline. A trained volunteer advocate will be paged to call you and help you decide what to do.
- Seek medical attention. The Nurse Examiner Program at the YWCA provides a free physical exam including the Rape Evidence Kit. Their personnel are specialized and the setting is private. If injuries are severe, going to the nearest hospital emergency room is appropriate. An exam is pertinent up to 96 hours post-assault for evidence to be collected. Also, it is important for injuries to be treated and STD and pregnancy testing to be done.
- Call the Grand Rapids Police at 456-3400 or 911
  *When reporting the crime, contact the police in the municipality in which the sexual assault occurred. If you are unsure of the location, or if it occurred on campus, contact the Grand Rapids police at the number above. Calvin Campus Safety (616-526-66452) is also available for assistance.

What Happens When You Call the Rape Crisis Hotline?

You will be encouraged to go to the YWCA Sexual Assault Center located at 25 Sheldon Blvd SE, (for directions, see www.ywcawcmi.org) where a nurse examiner will perform a medical exam and provide treatment. A trained volunteer advocate would be paged to offer you support and answer your questions.

If you are currently unsure about participating in criminal prosecution, having the sexual assault... evidence collection kit completed will help keep your options open. At the Nurse Examiner Program, evidence may be kept for 15 days as you consider your options. The sexual assault evidence collection kit cannot be released to the police without your signature on an authorization form.

Support After a Sexual Assault
Each survivor has his/her own recovery timetable. Some people are ready for counseling right away and others are not. Being heard by someone who is objective, supportive, and non-judgmental is crucial. The effects of sexual assault on a victim can be deep and long lasting, and may include depression, contemplation of suicide, alcohol and drug abuse, post-traumatic stress disorder, eating disorders, and interpersonal concerns.

Free on-campus, confidential counseling is available for students through the Broene Counseling Center (616-526-6123). The YWCA Counseling Center offers six free sessions of crisis counseling. They also offer ongoing individual and group counseling on a sliding fee scale. The Broene Counseling Center also can recommend other off-campus therapists if you choose.

Men Are Raped Too
Research has found that at least 1 in 30 men will be the victim of an attempted or completed rape in their lifetime. Rape of men (whether the victim or the assailant is heterosexual or homosexual) is most often committed by other men. In fact, most rapes of males are committed by heterosexuals. However, women also sexually violate or even rape men. Men, like women, are assaulted by strangers and acquaintances. Men are encouraged to seek appropriate medical examination at the YWCA Sexual Assault Center and to make a police report. One can be assured that male clients are treated with respect and sensitivity at these Grand Rapids resources and at Calvin campus resources. See information above for resource contact information.

Sexual Assault Overview
Sexual assault refers to any unwanted sexual contact or activity. Sexual assault occurs without explicit consent of the recipient of the behavior and in some cases may involve force. Consent shall be defined as the act of willingly and verbally agreeing to engage in specific sexual contact or conduct. Psychologically pressuring or coercing an individual or any attempt to take advantage of an individual under duress or when incapable of making a decision on his or her own is a direct violation of the policy. This includes situations in which an individual is under the influence of alcohol, drugs and/or prescribed medications.

Rape is forced sexual intercourse, including vaginal, anal, or oral penetration of a person who has not given or is incapable of consent. Penetration may be by a body part or an object. Some states use the words sexual assault interchangeably with rape.

The definition of sexual assault differs by state. In Michigan, the Criminal Sexual Conduct Code defines sexual assault as any sexual contact forced upon a non-consenting person. "Criminal sexual conduct" (CSC) includes penetration of any body opening, touching sexual areas of the body, or attempting to penetrate or touch these areas (see http://www.calvin.edu/broene/groups-workshops/sapt/information/assault.html). The law further outlines four degrees of criminal sexual conduct. Maximum sentence depends on the amount of force used and the amount of personal injury to the victim. Sentences range from two years for fourth degree CSC to life in prison for first degree.

Sexual Assault Prevalence
In the United States, at least 1 in 6 women and at least 1 in 30 men are victims of an attempted or completed rape in their lifetime. College age women are 4 times more likely to be sexually assaulted than the general population. Specifically, first year women are most at risk to experience a sexual assault during their first semester of college.

Relatively few rapes are committed by strangers. According to the 2009 Bureau of Justice Statistics, approximately 80% of women knew their attacker prior to the assault. Most date or acquaintance rapes involved alcohol. Most rapes are premeditated. Most rapists have repeated their behavior.

Calvin College Disciplinary Procedures
Calvin College does not tolerate any acts or threats of sexual assault or physical assault whether directed at males or females, someone known or unknown (including date or acquaintance rape), which involves use of force or coercion, without consent or when a person is incapable of consent. (Student Conduct Code, Article IV.B.4.) The College prohibits all sexual behavior that is an abuse of power, status, or influence over another. Untolerated conduct includes behavior defined by the Criminal Sexual Conduct Law (CSC) for the State of Michigan and other relevant laws of sexual abuse or indecency. Being under the influence of alcohol or drugs does not absolve the perpetrator of personal responsibility for his/her actions. (See Appendix E of the Student Conduct Code). In date rape the victim may fear being blamed or disciplined if alcohol was involved. This is not the case. On the contrary, the Student Life Division at Calvin is committed to sensitive and fair handling of sexual assault situations with healing, safety of others, and justice as primary concerns. Sexual assault or misconduct is what will be disciplined, not the alcohol violation on the part of the victim.

When the assailant is a Calvin student or employee, the victimized student is encouraged to make a report of the rape/date rape to the proper Calvin officials. Students considering formal charges against another student or employee may seek consultation.

Detailed information about procedures and options for the survivor, the college’s response, rights of the accused and accuser, and sanctions, may be found in the Student Conduct Code http://www.calvin.edu/student-life/forms-policies/pdf/student-hdbk.pdf. The college's standard of proof is based on a "preponderance of evidence" which is different than criminal charges which must create belief "beyond a reasonable doubt" in order to convict. Possible sanctions for sexual assault can extend over the entire range of possible sanctions, including dismissal, depending on the severity of the incident.

Sexual Assault Prevention

Sexual Assault is something that impacts all of us. Below are ways we can begin to make a change and work to prevent sexual assault.

- Express my outrage about rape and all forms of sexual violence.
- Talk to other community members about sexual violence.
- Interrupt sexist jokes that objectify others.
- Seek information about why sexual violence is so prevalent in our society and how I can help prevent it.
- Change anything I may be doing that contributes to sexual violence.
- Support and encourage men and women to take responsibility for ending sexual violence.
- Listen to others fears and concerns for safety.
- Pay attention to cries for help and take action.
- Challenge images of violence against women in advertising and entertainment.
- Support women and men working together to end sexual violence.
- Nurture myself and be aware of my personal safety.
- Believe and support women, children, and men who have experienced any form of sexual violence.

Sexual Harassment

Simply put, sexual harassment is repeated unwanted attention of a sexual nature. Remarks may not be intended to harm, but if they have that effect, they constitute harassment. Sexual harassment creates an offensive, intimidating, or hostile learning or living environment. It may involve abuse of power or privilege. Sexual harassment may involve coercion or threat. It is important to recognize that any romantic or sexual relationship involving a person in a position of power or authority over others constitutes an abuse of power, and is, by definition, abusive. Central to this concept is the use of implied reward or threat of deprivation that interferes with the academic or work effectiveness of the victim. For this reason Calvin College prohibits romantic relationships between faculty members and students, between students and staff members in mentoring positions, and between employees when a supervisory relationship is involved.

Calvin College will not tolerate sexual harassment or abuse of any kind. It is our collective responsibility to promote a safe learning environment. Sexual harassment by any member of Calvin's faculty, staff or student body is an assault on personal dignity and a violation of federal and state law. Calvin affirms its commitment to maintaining an educational and working environment, which is fair, respectful, and free from sexual harassment. No one at the college may retaliate against a person who makes a bona fide claim of sexual harassment.

The following guidance is adapted from materials provided by the Safe Church Ministry of the Christian Reformed Church.

In marriage, two people are called to become one flesh and reflect the relationship between Christ and his bride, the church for which he laid down his life. Abusive behavior, in contrast, uses power over others for selfish gain. Leaders in a church or Christian institution hold a position of power and trust towards those they serve - whether that be students, staff, or members of a congregation. Abusive behavior by Christian leaders reveals a misuse of the power and position entrusted to them. Patterns of destructive behavior may seem harmless at first but can escalate into more serious emotional, physical or sexual abuse, causing harm. It is always the responsibility of leaders in Christian institutions to maintain healthy boundaries in all of their relationships. When sexual boundaries are crossed by a pastor, professor, teacher, coach, or other leader it's not an affair, it is abuse.

Types of Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment can be verbal (comments about a person's body, spreading sexual rumors, sexual remarks or accusations, dirty jokes or stories), physical (grabbing, rubbing, flashing or mooning, touching, pinching in a sexual way, sexual assault) or visual (display of naked pictures or sex-related objects, obscene gestures). Sexual harassment can happen to women and men, transgender and intersex persons, and those who are non gender-conforming. It is not limited by sexual orientation.

Some types of verbal behavior that might constitute sexual harassment are:

- Continuous idle chatter of a sexual nature and graphic sexual descriptions;
- Sexual slurs, sexual innuendoes and other comments about a person’s clothing, body and/or sexual activities;
- Offensive and persistent risqué jokes or jesting and kidding about sex or gender-specific traits;
- Suggestive or insulting sounds such as whistling, wolf calls or kissing sounds;
- Sexually provocative comments or compliments about a person’s clothing or the way their clothes fit;
- Comments of a sexual nature about weight, body shape, size or figure;
- Comments about the sensuality of a person, or his/her spouse or significant other;
- Distribution of written or graphic materials that are derogatory and are of a sexual nature;
- Repeated unsolicited propositions for dates and/or sexual relations;
- Asking about sexual fantasies, preferences or history.

Examples of gestures or non-verbal behaviors that might be considered sexual harassment are:

- Sexual looks such as leering and ogling with suggestive overtones;
- Licking lips or teeth, winking or throwing kisses;
- Holding or eating food provocatively;
- Lewd gestures, such as hand or sign language to denote sexual activity;
- Persistent and unwelcome flirting;
- Staring at an individual or looking a person up and down (elevator eyes);
- Displaying sexually suggestive pictures, calendars, posters, statues, etc.

Unwanted physical contact can range from offensive behavior to criminal acts. While some might dismiss some of these behaviors as an annoyance, others will consider them to be sexual harassment. It should be stressed that all of these behaviors are inappropriate in the workplace. Some examples of unwanted physical contact that might be considered sexual harassment are:

- Touching that is inappropriate in the workplace or classroom, such as patting, pinching, stroking or brushing up against the body;
- Giving a massage around the neck or shoulders;
• Attempted or actual kissing or fondling;
• Cornering or mauling;
• Physical assault;
• Coerced sexual relations;
• Attempted rape or rape;
• Touching or rubbing oneself sexually around another person;
• Pranks such as exposing underwear or parts of the body;

It should be stressed that while some behaviors may be offensive, unprofessional and/or against college policy, they may not necessarily be considered sexual harassment. For example, general use of profanity and vulgar language may not be sexual harassment unless it is sexually oriented or overused to the point that a hostile work environment is created.

What to do

If you have experienced sexual harassment or abuses of power at Calvin, or suspect that someone you know might be involved in a situation of harassment or abuse, call the I Will Report It designated message line at 616-526-IWRI (616-526-4974). The line is available for students, faculty, and staff 24 hours a day, seven days a week, every day of the year. You may also speak to a trusted person who will report it to their Vice President or the Associate Vice President for Human Resources. The College encourages the reporting of all perceived incidents of discrimination, harassment or retaliation regardless of the offender's identity or position.

GENERAL CAMPUS GUIDELINES AND POLICIES

AGE OF MAJORITY POLICY
In Michigan the age of majority is 18. The college welcomes the opportunities this affords to almost all of its students and urges them to exercise their rights and responsibilities as sensitive Christian citizens.

Calvin College seeks to provide Christian higher education to its students. In keeping with this goal the college assumes the right to follow procedures and policies to attain its goal. In its expectations, regulations, and policies, the college seeks to promote the rights afforded by the age of majority as long as they do not infringe on the academic mission of the college, the rights of others in the college community, and the total educational experience which the college judges important to attain its purposes as a Christian college.

Specific Policy and Procedural Matters
1. In accordance with the college’s FERPA policy (see college catalog), the registrar may share a transcript, grade report, or other educational records with the parent(s) of a dependent student.
2. A transcript of a student's cumulative records will be released to the parents only upon permission of the student or under FERPA guidelines.
3. In keeping with and determined by national and state legislation and practice, financial need will continue to be evaluated on the basis of the resources available to students and their parents to meet the educational cost of the college. In order to ensure that all applications for financial aid are treated in an equitable manner, the financial aid officer requires that each applicant submit a Financial Aid Form to be processed by the College Scholarship Service.

4. The college being an academic institution regards residence hall living as an important enrichment to the student's personal, social, and academic development. Thus first and second-year students not living with their parent(s) or legal guardian are required to reside in the Calvin College residence halls or apartments.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS
The college recognizes the educational benefits of co-curricular activities and encourages students to participate in them. However, curricular activities are of paramount importance in a college education, and for that reason, only full-time students who are in good academic and community standing are eligible to hold office in student government or in any student organizations, to serve on the staff of any student publications, to serve on any faculty committees or to participate in intercollegiate athletics. Good academic standing means that students must be enrolled in a minimum of 12 semester hours per semester, be making normal progress towards graduation (defined as 12 semester hours per semester and the completion of three interim courses during a four-year program), and fulfill the minimum grade requirements listed in this handbook (under the section entitled Academic Probation and Dismissal). Good community standing suggests compliance with the Student Conduct Code, which can be found in this handbook. Part-time students may become members of student organizations, but may not assume leadership roles or participate in intercollegiate athletics. All first-year students are eligible to participate in the activities discussed above as long as they are in good academic and community standing.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES
These Grievance Procedures are established to meet the legal requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). They may be used by anyone who thinks they have experienced discrimination on the basis of disability in employment practices or policies or in the provision of services, activities, programs, or benefits by Calvin College.

Our goal at Calvin College is to be the kind of community which follows Christian principles as we seek to resolve any conflicts which may occur between persons with disabilities and other members of the campus community. We are motivated by love and justice. Our hope is that the procedures described below will be needed rarely; and when used, that they will lead to restoration of community whenever it has been broken.

1. On occasion a student or employee of the college who has a disability may have criticism with regard to matters such as failure to provide reasonable accommodation in courses; barriers in attitude, architecture, or communication; or discrimination in employment. The first step is for the student or employee to present his or her concern and request for action directly to the faculty member or other college employee who is involved. The Professor or other college employee should listen, giving serious attention to the complainant’s concern, and attempt to resolve it in a mutually satisfactory way.

2. If the faculty or staff member's response does not satisfy the complainant, or if the complainant does not feel safe in approaching the faculty or staff member, then the complainant must file a formal grievance with the Campus ADA Compliance Officer, the Vice President of Administration and Finance. To file a grievance, the complainant, and only the complainant, must fill out an ADA Grievance Form, which is available in the Office of Administration and Finance. Alternative means of filing the ADA Grievance Form, such as a personal interview or a tape recording, will be made available to persons with disabilities upon request. The grievance must be filed no later than sixty days after the alleged violation.

3. Within ten working days of receiving the grievance, the ADA Compliance Officer will review the grievance, consult with necessary parties, and determine if the grievance shall be forwarded directly to the Campus Accessibility Advisory Committee (CAAC) for fact-finding and decision. The criteria for not forwarding a grievance may include any of the following:
   1) The grievance could be handled through an alternate dispute resolution process agreed upon by both of the parties.
   2) Another appeal process exists, and is better suited, for handling the issue presented in the grievance.
   3) The grievance lacks sufficient grounds.
   4) The grievance lacks credible facts.

4. In the event that the grievance is not forwarded to the CAAC, the ADA Compliance Officer will notify the complainant in writing of the decision not to forward the grievance. Said denial may be appealed to the CAAC within three business days following receipt of the written notification.

5. In the event that the grievance is forwarded to the CAAC, the CAAC will meet with the complainant within ten working days of receiving the grievance to discuss and identify options for resolving the grievance. Within five working days after that meeting, the CAAC will send its advice on resolving the grievance to both the ADA Compliance Officer, the complainant, and other concerned parties. The complainant must receive the CAAC's proposed resolution in a format accessible to the complainant.

6. After receiving and considering the CAAC's advice, the ADA Compliance Officer will rule on the grievance and notify the CAAC, the complainant, and other concerned parties of his ruling within five working days.

7. If the complainant does not accept the ADA Compliance Officer's ruling, then the complainant may appeal to the President of the College within five working days.

8. If the complainant does not accept the decision of the President of the College, then the complainant may appeal the matter, by way of the President, to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees at its next regularly scheduled meeting.

Note: These grievance procedures are designed to protect the due process rights of complainants while at the same time resolving disputes at a personal level in the spirit of Matthew 18. Following the College's grievance procedures shall in no way substitute for or impair the complainant's right to file an ADA complaint with the appropriate agency or department of the federal government of the United States. However, if the complainant does file a complaint with the federal government before this grievance procedure is completed, then the procedures stated above will be abrogated.
GUIDE TO CAMPUS SAFETY AND SUBSTANCE ABUSE. In compliance with the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989, the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990, and the Higher Education Amendments of 2008, Calvin College has published A Guide to Campus Safety and Substance Abuse. This document is available on the internet at: http://www.calvin.edu/admin/campus-safety/policies-procedures/substance-awareness.html and can be accessed by any student or employee through any terminal on campus. Students are urged to peruse this information at their convenience. A printed copy of this publication is available upon request from either the Campus Safety Department or the office of the Vice President for Student Life to any student who desires one. Data on student retention is found in the college catalog section on Admissions and Standards under the heading "Profile of Calvin First-Year Students", in compliance with the Student-Right-to-Know law. This document is available on the internet at: www.calvin.edu/admissions/apply/first-year.html.

INTERNAL FUNDRAISING POLICY
Of Calvin College
July 11, 1996

(As approved by the Faculty Senate)

The Development Office, under the direction of the President and Board of Trustees, is responsible for fundraising for Calvin College. Fundraising priorities are determined by the Planning and Priorities Committee.

To foster donor relationships, to preserve integrity in fundraising, and to promote sensitivity to the college’s constituencies, Calvin College promulgates the following guidelines for faculty, staff, and students seeking financial support for any college activities.

No individuals, foundation, non-profit group (excepting church congregations), and any for-profit organization may be solicited for cash or non-cash donations by any faculty member, academic department, staff member, student organization, student, or Calvin group who identifies itself or the solicitation as connected in any way to Calvin College unless the project has been approved by the President’s Cabinet.

Anyone seeking permission to conduct college related fundraising activities off campus should submit a written proposal with appropriate endorsement, which includes a plan for fundraising, to the Vice President for Advancement who shall bring the proposal to the President’s Cabinet for approval. Proposal endorsement for the following areas must be secured from:

- Faculty Activities – Department Chair
- Music Activities – Department Chair
- Athletics – Department Chair
- Service Learning Projects – Director of Service Learning
- Resident Hall Activities – Dean of Residence Life

Endorsed proposals should show that the activity to be funded: 1) falls clearly within the college’s mission statement; and 2) augments the requestor’s educational experience. Any questions should be directed to the Vice President for Advancement.

On-campus fundraising sales of sundry goods, (e.g., poinsettias, pizzas, subs, candy bars) or solicitations of activity-based pledges for support (e.g., walk-a-thons) for college related causes requires prior approval by the Vice President for Advancement. Requests to conduct these activities must be submitted in writing to the Vice President for Advancement at least one week in advance.
On-campus fundraising for non-Calvin causes will not normally be permitted on college time or using college resources, (e.g. distribution of solicitations by email, posters, mailing lists, ICM) except through “Calvin Deals.”

Students needing financial assistance for travel expenses connected to off-campus interim and/or semester programs should contact the Financial Aid Office for available resources.

A donor may not designate a contribution for a particular student or employee of the college. The college will not issue a charitable receipt for such a designated contribution. Such transfer of monies will be considered personal gifts, not charitable contributions.

Appeals to reconsider a denial to fundraise by the Vice President for Advancement should be made in writing to the President’s Cabinet via the Assistant to the President.

Any violation of the above guidelines will be referred to the appropriate judicial body and process with such sanctions as shall be deemed appropriate by that governing body.

Revised 05/15/08

LITERATURE DISTRIBUTION
Literature (printed matter from single sheet fliers to books) from sources outside the campus may be distributed (free or for sale) on campus only with the prior approval in writing of the Dean of Student Development or the Dean of Residence Life. If such prior approval is not obtained, the literature may be confiscated and the distributor subject to sanctions. If the distributor is not a student, a warrant for his/her arrest may be sought; if a student, s/he shall be subject to the discipline of the college.

All materials published, circulated, or posted on campus must be approved by the faculty, its committees, or organizations delegated by the faculty. Ordinarily such materials must be sponsored by properly constituted student organizations. Posters must be stamped with a take-down date before posting. Stamping is available only at the Student Development Office in the Commons Annex.

MANNER AND METHOD OF DISSENT
While recognizing that constructive protest and discussion of issues are vital in a college community, the college also recognizes an obligation to maintain on the campus an atmosphere conducive to academic work and the respect of private rights of all individuals. Therefore, the following guidelines govern student protests and demonstrations:

1. Student demonstrations (marching, picketing, silent vigils, etc.) are to be registered for information with the Student Senate and with the Dean of Student Development no later than one day preceding the occurrence.
2. Sponsoring organizations, their officers, and all individual participants, will be held responsible for their conduct in demonstrations.
3. Student demonstrations are to be conducted in an orderly manner, and are not to interfere with the normal operations of the college.
4. The privilege of on-campus student demonstrations is not extended to organizations or students not directly affiliated with Calvin.
OFF-CAMPUS LIVING Many Calvin students will choose to live off-campus at some point during their time at Calvin, whether it be in Project Neighborhood homes or as renters in Grand Rapids communities. This presents a learning opportunity, a chance to consider how the lordship of Christ extends to how we live and where we live. As part of a Reformed Christian community, we are called to "seek the welfare of the city" (Jer. 29:7). Living off-campus, students will have the opportunity to live intentionally and faithfully in community: establishing and maintaining good relationships with neighbors, serving the needs of others, and experiencing the joy of being part of a neighborhood. But seeking the welfare of the city also involves sensitivity to others' needs and concerns, which translates into practical matters such as heeding noise levels and parking issues, honoring agreements with landowners, and observing city ordinances that address community welfare. The latter include residency limits: in Grand Rapids, no more than four unrelated people may reside at a given residence; Kentwood ordinances are based on square footage (check with your landlord). As "salt and light" to our world, all members of the Calvin College community are called to be good neighbors by observing these obligations.

1. The Student Conduct Code specifically lists living in compliance with applicable zoning ordinances for occupancy as an expectation for all Calvin students living off-campus. Ordinances vary by municipality, so students are expected to work closely with landlords to ensure compliance.

2. The college requires an accurate and current local address for all students living off campus. Each fall semester, all off-campus residents will be required to electronically register their local addresses. Failure to submit this address by Friday, September 13 will result in a $50 late fee. If by September 27 this is still unresolved, an additional $50 late fee (hence, $100 total) will be added to the student’s account, as well as having a financial “hold” placed on the account. The hold will be lifted once a student reports a local address.

Furthermore, students must verify via digital signature their “compliance” or “non-compliance” with applicable zoning ordinances on occupancy (e.g. no more than four unrelated adults may reside in most residential housing units in the city of Grand Rapids; Kentwood zoning is based on square footage and number of bedrooms; etc.). If students are unable to honestly confirm compliance, they will have the opportunity to explain their housing situation on the form. The college will do its best to work with students who are truthful, even if admitting non-compliance.

3. Students found to be living in violation of applicable zoning ordinances will be subject to any or all of the following:
   a. A fine of $250 per student, per semester, will be levied until the situation is verifiably resolved. Note: this fine is independent of any action the city may take against occupants or landlords, and in no way exempts students from the requirements of applicable local ordinances.
   b. A letter of non-compliant housing will be filed in the student’s college record.
   c. The college will affirm addresses if requested by city authorities who are formally investigating specific violations of occupancy ordinances.
   d. Apart from any current or future college response, students face consequences from city authorities as defined in zoning ordinances, including evictions and other civil penalties for non-compliance.
4. Students who provide false information during the local address and compliance/non-compliance registration process will be subject to further disciplinary action by the college.

Grand Rapids Housing Policies

1. Students should properly care for their property, which includes snow removal within 24 hours of snowfall and yard care. This is not only an ordinance but a way to be a good neighbor on your street.
2. Students should be responsible for properly disposing their trash and recycling. The city of Grand Rapids has weekly trash pick-up and bi-weekly recycling.
3. Students should limit on-street parking and obey all posted parking restrictions within their neighborhoods.
4. Students should be aware of their noise levels in their neighborhoods. Disturbance of the peace is prohibited 24 hours each day.
5. Students may only sleep in rooms deemed as legal bedrooms that are safe. Rooms must have two points of egress, finished surfaces and have a closet.

PARKING-DRIVING REGULATIONS. All students and college personnel are expected to operate their motor vehicles on college properties in compliance with the State of Michigan Vehicle Code. Students should be aware that Campus Safety monitors all parking lots on a regular basis and will issue parking violations when necessary. To promote orderly parking and traffic movement, procedures and regulations have been adopted by the college.

1. All motor vehicles owned or operated by Calvin students must be properly registered with the Campus Safety Department. All vehicles must display an official Calvin vehicle permit on the lower right-hand corner of the windshield, and must be parked in approved parking places only. A hang tag must be acquired for any vehicle that is being used on campus on a temporary basis.
2. Emergency use of an unregistered car is permissible without fine or registration fee if the Campus Safety Office is notified the same day. This is done by calling dispatch at (616)526-6452.
3. Each student is responsible for his/her car at all times, including parking and driving penalties, whether that car is used by the student or another person.
4. The college does not assume responsibility for damage to cars parked on college lots.
5. Motorcycles, motorbikes, and all motor-driven vehicles must follow the registration procedures outlined for automobiles; all parking-driving regulations and penalties apply.

Registering Your Car

To properly register a motor vehicle and obtain a Calvin vehicle permit students must complete a vehicle registration card at the Campus Safety Office located in the Mail and Printing Services Building, by the Lake Drive entrance to campus. Vehicles can also be registered on line by going to the Campus Safety web site: http://www.calvin.edu/admin/campus-safety/.

When students register their vehicles, they will be given a sheet containing the detailed parking-driving rules and regulations. It is suggested that this sheet be kept in the glove compartment of their vehicle. Additional copies are available upon request at the Campus Safety. A map of approved parking locations for students is located on the Campus Safety web site and can be viewed at http://www.calvin.edu/admin/campus-safety/

A Word about Bicycles, Skateboards, and In-Line Skates

All bikes parked on campus need a bike registration sticker. Bike registration is free and is available on the Campus Safety website. The registration sticker is valid for the entire time the bike is on campus and must be placed on the vertical post below the seat. You must have your serial number to register your bike. For any questions about registration contact Campus Safety Front Desk at (616)526-6451 or e-mail us at safety@calvin.edu.

The use of skateboards, in-line skates, and bicycles is not permitted inside any building (including Calvin’s Crossing). While these items are not to be used as modes of transportation indoors, they may be transported through buildings. For example, in-line skates and skateboards may be carried through buildings and bicycles may be pushed.

For safety reasons, individuals using roller blades or skateboards on campus should use the jogging trail or sidewalk. Bicyclists should use the roadways and are subject to the same traffic laws as vehicles. In all instances, care should be taken to yield the right of way to pedestrians.

POSTER POLICY
In the Spring of 2012 the Student Life Committee updated the poster policy. As of August 6, 2012 these policies will be put into place.

GENERAL CAMPUS BULLETIN BOARD

General campus bulletin boards are intended for use by student organizations and college departments for notices and posters concerning Calvin sponsored events. Departmental and permanently reserved bulletin boards (i.e. Religion, Financial Services) are not for general display. All notices and posters from Calvin College Departments and Organizations must be approved by the Student Development Office prior to posting on general campus bulletin boards.

Size, Quantity, and Identification
1. Posters may range in size with no posters larger than 11 x 17.
2. Poster quantities are limited to the following:
   a. 8 ½ x 11: 50 posters
   b. 11 x 17: 25 posters
3. Only one poster per event will be approved.
4. Each poster must include the name of the sponsoring student organization or department on each poster.

Process for Approval
1. Drop off the poster at the Student Development Office in the Commons Annex.
2. Posters will be reviewed and approved within four hours of being dropped off.
3. Determine with the staff in Student Development which general campus bulletin board would work best to display the poster(s).
4. A date-stamp will be placed on the poster. Only one stamped poster per event will be allowed on each bulletin board. Posters will be stamped for a period of no more than 14 days.
5. No posters on campus can be adhered to glass doors, windows, or brick walls. The exception is same day or urgent announcements and/or campus emergencies (e.g. Campus Safety Alert, etc.)

COMMUNITY BULLETIN BOARDS

Posters concerning events that are not sponsored by Calvin departments or organizations can only be posted on the two “community” bulletin boards located in the entrance to Johnny’s Café and immediately outside the Campus Store.
RESIDENCE HALL BULLETIN BOARDS
Posters concerning Residence Life events may only be on bulletin boards and brick work in residence halls and apartment lobbies only, and they need to be approved by Residence Life staff.

DEPARTMENTAL BULLETIN BOARDS
College employees may post articles and announcements outside of their offices or on their office doors. These articles/announcements do not need to be stamped. Academic departments may set their own policies for bulletin boards in their departments.

Exemptions to the poster policy may be obtained in special situations from the Dean of Student Development.

BUILDING MAINTENANCE, FACULTY, AND OTHER STAFF MEMBERS WILL ENFORCE THE POLICIES REGARDING PLACEMENT OF ALL POSTERS REGARDLESS OF THE ORGANIZATION OR COMMITTEE ORIGIN.
Approved by Student Life Committee: May 4, 2012
Effective Date: August 1, 2012

PROTEST AND APPEALS POLICY
(Student Concerns and Appeals Regarding Faculty)
At Calvin College the goal to become a model Christian academic community should direct the attempts to resolve conflicts which may occur between students and faculty members. We would expect that members will all “accept one another…” (Romans 15:7) and that student protest and appeal will occur infrequently and only over matters of significance to the calling as Christian faculty members. Moreover, the process of protest should be one which should lead to restoration of Christian community in which the members are affirmed and express love for one another.

1. On occasion (rarely, we trust) a student may have criticism of a professor for which he or she requests some action. Criticisms may regard the requirements of a course, the nature of a test, a grade received, teaching effectiveness, personal lifestyle, general performance, or sanctions given for academic dishonesty. The student should present such criticism directly to the faculty member. The student criticism should be heard and given serious attention by the faculty member.

2. If the faculty member's response does not satisfy the student, or if the student, for good reason, does not feel free to approach the faculty member, the student should bring the criticism to the department chairperson and, if necessary, the academic dean. The chairperson or the academic dean should work for resolution.

3. If the student or faculty member does not accept the advice of the chairperson or academic dean, the academic dean will suggest one of the following procedures:
   a. If the complaint regards a sanction given by a faculty member for academic dishonesty, the student must follow the procedure outlined in "The Student Conduct Code and Disciplinary Procedures" found in the Expanded Handbook for Teaching Faculty.
   b. If the protest is on matters other than sanctions given by a faculty member for academic dishonesty, the academic dean will refer the issue to an ad hoc committee of two faculty members, a student, and an academic dean. The ad hoc committee should hear the student protest and hear the professor's response, as well as collect appropriate material evidence. The student, if he or she so chooses, may ask a student, faculty member, or the Dean of Residence Life to give counsel at this hearing. The committee should work for resolution of the differences and prepare a written recommendation to the provost, a copy of which will be sent to the student and faculty member.

4. The decision of the ad hoc committee may be appealed to the Provost by either the student or the faculty member. In cases where the student protest involves the academic standards, i.e., course requirements or grades, the decision may be appealed to the Academic Standards Committee. Cases where the protest involves teaching effectiveness, professional standards, religious commitment, or personal lifestyle may be appealed to the Professional Status Committee.

5. The report of either of these committees will be advisory to the Provost, who will prepare a recommendation for the President.

6. Further appeals by the student or faculty member would be to the President, and by way of the President, to the Board of Trustees.

7. Correspondence addressed to a member of the Board of Trustees should be sent to the Board of Trustees office, Spoelhof Center. Such correspondence is routinely opened by a member of the Board staff and forwarded to the person to whom it is addressed and to the President. If the correspondence is marked "Confidential", it will be forwarded unopened to the trustee to whom it is addressed.

(Approved by the Board of Trustees, February, 1987)

RESIDENCY POLICY
At Calvin, we believe that a residential environment is an important component of the college experience, and thus we have a two-year residency requirement. First and second-year students live primarily in the college residence halls, while juniors and seniors have the option of staying on-campus in the residence halls or apartments, or trying an off-campus option. Beyond just a place to sleep, our on-campus living communities become places of learning, through relationships with others and through a variety of co-curricular programs and activities.

Exceptions to the residency requirement for first and second year students are granted only for those living with their parent(s) or legal guardian, students at least 21 years of age, part-time or married students, or students who are two full years removed from their high school graduation date. For the convenience of students seeking off-campus accommodations as juniors and seniors, a listing of rental properties is available at http://www.calvin.edu/housing/housing-options/neighborhood-living/rentals.html. Please be advised that the college does not and cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information posted on these websites.

All students are responsible for keeping the Registrar’s Office informed at all times of their current address. Forms for this purpose are available in the Registrar’s Office which is located in the Spoelhof Center. It is the responsibility of the student to protect and insure his/her personal property while living in the residence halls.

SMOKING
Smoking on campus is permitted only in designated areas. These designated areas are clearly marked by appropriate signage and cigarette butt receptacles. Cleaning up the trash from cigarette butts costs the college tuition dollars, therefore, use of the receptacles is both stewardly and common courtesy. Students, staff members, and visitors are not allowed to smoke while walking on the sidewalks or other areas of campus. Enforcement of this policy is up to members of the Calvin community (all students, faculty, and staff). For the common good, please encourage one another to respect and abide by this policy.

18
SOLICITATION POLICY
Soliciting, peddling, vending of all types, are prohibited on campus unless prior permission is obtained from the Dean of Student Development or his/her designate.

CALVIN COLLEGE STUDENT CONDUCT CODE
(The Official and most current version of the Student Conduct Code is found online at http://www.calvin.edu/student-life/forms-policies/)

PREAMBLE
Vision Statement
Calvin College is a comprehensive liberal arts college in the Reformed tradition of historic Christianity. Through our learning, we seek to be agents of renewal in the academy, church, and society. We pledge fidelity to Jesus Christ, offering our hearts and lives to do God’s work in God’s world.

Building Community
Building community is an integral component of Calvin’s educational mission. Perhaps this vision is best characterized by an image of students, faculty, and staff helping one another day by day to "cultivate aspirations, nurture commitments, and practice what we profess” (Expanded Statement of Mission, Calvin College, p. 52). Seen in this light, being a member of Calvin College is not ultimately about personal gratification, “doing one’s own thing,” or peaceful co-existence, although Calvin is certainly a place where its constituents can enjoy considerable freedoms, excel, and build lasting friendships. At its best, however, Calvin seeks to weld its participants together around the beliefs that all are made in God’s image and that members of Christ’s church need one another, such that their educational endeavors, interpersonal relationships, and personal actions might reflect the Lord’s provisions more closely.

Building community is not easy. Christian belief also testifies that a person’s disregard for God’s provisions for life lead to brokenness, alienation, and wrongdoing. As a result, Calvin is not a perfect place; people act, speak, and think in ways that are in conflict with biblical standards. The good news of the gospel is that Jesus’ life, death, resurrection, and ascension provides relief from brokenness, alienation, and wrongdoing; followers of Christ are emancipated, enlightened, and empowered to experience life in ways that are mutually fulfilling and meaningful. Consequently, Calvin can be a place where the blessings of community can be pursued and experienced, albeit partially, by some more than others, and sometimes more than other times.

Building community doesn’t occur automatically; it requires commitment and perseverance. Moreover, building community suggests intentionally striving to enact self-control, integrity, and justice as appropriate expressions of Christian belief. Self-control involves acknowledging God’s presence in all of our actions; integrity concerns being above reproach in dealings with others; and justice indicates a desire to pursue righteousness, compassion, and shalom in private and public settings. Taken together, these three characteristics of the Christian life are important building blocks of the kind and quality of community that Calvin envisions.

Building community also involves avoiding various behaviors. Calvin proscribes or "outlaws" certain conduct because it impedes the kind of community that it hopes to build. More specifically, if a student becomes intoxicated, he is not self-controlled; if a student cheats on a test, she has compromised integrity; or, if a student harasses a colleague, he has acted unjustly. In each case, the building of community was diminished. What follows, then, are signposts as to how students might pursue the goal of building community.

Theoretical Basis For The Code Of Conduct
The theoretical basis for this discipline code can be derived from the law of God as summarized in Matthew 22:37-40, the Christian law of love. Christians must learn to love God above all and their neighbors as themselves. Yet such love is often feeble, fragmentary, and deficient. Recognizing sinful resistance to God’s love this Christian academic community, resting in the grace of God and moved by His Spirit, join to build in one another a will to obey this law of love. This code expresses how, in part, this community will act to correct the deficiencies in their love for God, for themselves, and for one another.

The Christian law of love cannot be stated in narrow, legalistic terms, for it can never be fulfilled simply by the observance of a set of rules and regulations. Consequently, this code does not seek to develop a detailed and exhaustive summary of what a student may or may not do. On the other hand, it is sound Biblical principle that everything must be done in good order; hence, this code does contain, in addition to positive Christian principles of behavior, a list of proscribed conduct and a well-defined procedure for the implementation of the code.

Article II: JUDICIAL AUTHORITY, STRUCTURE AND RESPONSIBILITY, SCOPE

A. Locus of Authority

1. There are two areas in which authority is exercised with reference to the code of Christian conduct for students at Calvin College. One area is that of maintaining - that is, administering - these standards of conduct; the second is the area of elaborating and interpreting the code of conduct adopted for Calvin College.

2. The authority for maintaining the standards of behavior of students - as it is for faculty and administration - is vested in the Office of the President of the College by the Board of Trustees. The President is accountable to the Board in the exercise of this authority. In performing this responsibility the President may - and does - delegate and distribute the function of the administration of the standards of conduct to the Vice President for Student Life. The Vice President for Student Life may, in turn, delegate a part of her or his responsibility to a judicial hearing body and to Judicial Advisors. The Vice President and staff are assisted through faculty committees on which students are adequately represented.

3. No distribution or delegation of authority shall imply a loss of such authority by the delegating officer. Nothing in the subsequent sections of the code shall be understood as depriving either the President or the Vice President for Student Life of their authority, and the right of institutional review may be exercised by either officer.

B. Structure and Responsibility

1. The Student Discipline Committee is mandated to function as the principal agent of the Faculty Senate in all matters concerning the personal conduct of students and shall make recommendations to the Faculty Senate and the Student Senate regarding changes in standards of conduct, sanctions, and structures. According to its mandate, it serves both the student and the College as a judicial hearing body to hear cases of alleged student misconduct. (For further amplification, see Appendix A: Student Discipline Committee)

2. The Appellate Board shall serve the students and the college as the board of appeals stemming from the decisions of guilt or sanction made by judicial hearing bodies. (For further amplification, see Appendix B: Appellate Board)
3. The Student Life deans are designated as Senior Judicial Advisors and are assigned the more serious discipline cases in their roles as judicial hearing bodies. Members of the Student Life division holding the position of resident director are authorized to function as judicial hearing bodies and Judicial Advisors under the supervision of a Senior Judicial Advisor. Typically they are assigned less serious cases involving an accused student living in their residence halls.

4. In cases of academic dishonesty, the faculty member bringing the charges is authorized by this Code to function as both judicial hearing body and Judicial Advisor.

5. The Vice President for Student Life, in consultation with Senior Judicial Advisors, shall develop protocols for the administration of the judicial program and procedural rules for the conduct of hearings which are consistent with provisions of the Student Code.

6. Decisions made by the judicial hearing body and/or Judicial Advisor shall be final, subject to appeal as specified in the code.

C. Scope of Authority
Nothing in the institutional relationship may expressly or implicitly give the institution or residence life staff authority to consent to a search of a student’s room by outside police or other government officials without a warrant. The Vice President for Student Life or a student dean may authorize a search of a particular room in a college residence to determine compliance with federal, state, and local criminal law and with college regulations if there is probable cause to believe that a violation has occurred or is taking place in that room. Students may be asked to submit to breathalyzer or hair test when reasonable suspicion exists. "Probable cause" exists where the facts and circumstances within the knowledge of the institution and of which it has reasonably trustworthy information are sufficient in themselves to warrant a person of reasonable caution to believe that an offense has been or is being committed.

Article III: STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES
Calvin students are responsible for living in accord with the principles and provisions of this code. They are obliged to respect the procedures of this code, which have been established for the just and fair administration of discipline and for the promotion of a Christian lifestyle. Students are expected to cooperate with college officials in matters related to the implementation of the Student Conduct Code. Students who choose to withhold information from college officials when being interviewed during investigations are impeding the work of the college. The college will respect a student’s decision to choose silence so as not to risk possible criminal exposure through self-incrimination. However, such lack of cooperation may result in disciplinary action if the college officials determine that it has significantly impaired the welfare or integrity of the college community.

Article IV: PROSCRIBED CONDUCT
A. Jurisdiction of the College Student Conduct Code

Generally, Calvin College jurisdiction and discipline will be applied to student conduct that occurs:
- on college premises or
- during the course of off-campus activities related to Calvin College or
- which violates Biblical standards, federal, state or local laws on or off campus, or
- which adversely affects the Calvin College community and/or the pursuit by the college of its educational mission.

Each student shall be responsible for his/her conduct from the time of application for admission through the actual awarding of a degree, even though conduct may occur before classes begin or after classes end, as well as during the academic year and during periods between terms of actual enrollment (even if conduct is not discovered until after a degree is awarded). The Student Code shall apply to a student’s conduct even if the student withdraws from school while a disciplinary matter is pending. The Vice President of Student Life shall decide whether the Student Code shall be applied to conduct occurring off campus, on a case by case basis, in his/her sole discretion.

B. Conduct - Rules and Regulations

This code has already recognized that Christians seek to live their lives out of the positive law of love in obedience to God’s commandments. It has further recognized, however, that, as members of a Christian community, our love is often feeble, fragmentary, and deficient. It is in recognition of this fact that this code seeks to assist the community by this listing (not presumed to be exhaustive) of proscribed conduct.

Any student found to have committed the following misconduct is subject to the disciplinary sanctions outlined in Article V:

1. Acts of dishonesty, including but not limited to the following:
   a. Cheating, plagiarism, or other forms of academic dishonesty.
   b. Furnishing false information to any College official, faculty member or office.
   c. Forgery, alteration, or misuse of any College document, record, or instrument of identification.
   d. Tampering with the election of leaders of any College recognized student organization.

2. Disruption or obstruction of teaching, research, administration, disciplinary proceedings, other College activities, including its public-service functions on or off campus, or other authorized non-College activities, when the act occurs on College premises.

3. Physical abuse, verbal abuse, threats, stalking, intimidation, harassment, coercion or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person. (For further amplification, see Appendix C: Policy Statement on Sexual, Racial, and Other Harassment)

4. Physical assault and sexual assault, the latter including all criminal sexual conduct as defined by the laws of the State of Michigan. (For further amplification, see Appendix D: Sexual Assault Policy)

5. Attempted or actual theft of, or damage to, property of the College or property of a member of the College community or other personal or public property.

6. Hazing, defined by Michigan law as an act which endangers the mental or physical health or safety of a student, or which destroys or removes public or private property, for the purpose of initiation, admission into, affiliation with, or as a condition for continued membership in a group or organization. The express or implied consent of the victim will not be a defense. Apathy or acquiescence by another student in the presence of hazing are also violations of this rule.

7. Failure to comply with directions of College officials or law enforcement officers acting in performance of their duties and/or failure to identify oneself to these persons when requested to do so.

8. Unauthorized possession, duplication or use of keys or other access devices to any College premises or unauthorized entry to or use of College premises.

9. Violation of any College policy, rule, or regulation published in hard copy or available electronically on the College website.

10. Violation of federal, state or local law. Students charged with a misdemeanor or felony are required to notify the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs within five (5) days of being charged.
11. Unlawful use, possession, purchase, distribution, sale or manufacture of a controlled substance (including marijuana), designer drug, or drug paraphernalia. Hookahs are not allowed on campus.

12. Use, possession or distribution of alcoholic beverages except as expressly permitted by the law and College regulations. Students of legal age are expected to use alcohol in moderation. Intoxication is not permitted. Students present in a room where alcohol is present and/or being consumed by an underage student will be in violation of this section. (For further amplification, see Appendix E: Standards for Use of Alcoholic Beverages)

13. No weapons of any kind are allowed on campus, except as authorized by the Board of Trustees. Weapons includes, but is not limited to firearms, ammunition, explosives, switchblades, paint-ball guns, “Air-soft” guns, BB guns, potato launchers, slingshots and similar devices. Exceptions for Campus Safety supervisors are governed by the college’s Use of Force Policy.

14. Participation in a campus demonstration which disrupts the normal operations of the College and infringes on the rights of other members of the College community; leading or inciting others to disrupt scheduled and/or normal activities within any campus building or area; intentional obstruction which unreasonably interferes with freedom of movement, either pedestrian or vehicular, on campus.

15. Profane or obscene expressions including, but not limited to speech, which violate accepted standards of decency and Christian conduct.

16. Sexual misconduct including, but not limited to, sexual relations outside marriage, involvement with pornography, internet cybersex or other internet sexual misconduct.

17. Theft or other abuse of computer time including, but not limited to:
   a. Unauthorized entry into a file to use, read, or change the contents, or for any other purpose.
   b. Unauthorized transfer or copy of a file.
   c. Unauthorized use of another individual’s identification and password.
   d. Use of computing facilities to interfere with the work of another student, faculty member or College Official.
   e. Use of computing facilities to send obscene or abusive messages.
   f. Use of computing facilities to interfere with normal operation of the College computing system.
   g. Use of computing facilities and resources in violation of copyright laws.
   (For further amplification, see Appendix F: Responsible Use of Technology at Calvin College)

18. Gambling is prohibited where it distracts from the academic environment and Christian community, threatens financial security and/or undermines spiritual and mental health.

19. Abuse of the judicial system, including but not limited to:
   a. Failure to obey the notice of a judicial hearing body or College official to appear for a meeting or a hearing.
   b. Falsification, distortion, or misrepresentation of information before a judicial hearing body.
   c. Disruption or interference with the orderly conduct of a judicial proceeding.
   d. Initiation of a judicial proceeding knowingly without cause.
   e. Attempt to discourage or influence an individual’s proper participation in, or use of, the judicial system.
   f. Attempt to influence the impartiality of a member of a judicial hearing body prior to, or during the course of, the judicial proceeding.
   g. Harassment (verbal or physical) or intimidation of a member of a judicial hearing body prior to, during, or after a judicial proceeding.
C. Violation of Law and College Discipline.

1. When a student is charged with violation of a law which is also a violation of this Student Conduct Code, the College may institute disciplinary proceedings if both violations result from the same factual situation and without regard to the pendency of civil litigation in court or criminal arrest and prosecution. Proceedings under this Student Code may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following civil or criminal proceedings off-campus.

2. When a student is charged by federal, state, or local authorities with a violation of law, the College will not request or agree to special consideration for that individual because of his or her status as a student. If the alleged offense is also the subject of a proceeding before a judicial hearing body under the Student Code, however, the College may advise off-campus authorities of the existence of the Student Code and of how such matters will be handled internally within the College community. The College will cooperate fully with law enforcement and other agencies in the enforcement of criminal law on campus and in the conditions imposed by criminal courts for the rehabilitation of student violators. Individual students and faculty members, acting in their personal capacities, remain free to interact with governmental representatives as they deem appropriate.

3. If a student is charged only with an off-campus violation of federal, state, or local laws, but not with any other violation of this Code, disciplinary action may be taken and sanctions imposed for misconduct which demonstrates flagrant disregard for the College community or Biblical standards. In such cases, no sanction may be imposed unless the student has been found guilty in a court of law or has declined to contest such charges, although not actually admitting guilt (e.g., "no contest" or "nolo contendere").

4. Calvin College maintains a cooperating relationship with law enforcement agencies. The college will not be a sanctuary against civil or criminal prosecution of one of its students, but neither will it be party to a violation of any legal rights of due process which a student has as a citizen. The investigating activity of the college is limited to the campus, except to disprove or substantiate specific complaints against students and then not without informing the students concerned. Evidence of criminal activity by students may be turned over to the police or public prosecutor, but privileged or confidential information will not be according to the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (see College catalog). In the absence of parents the college will assist students with their legal rights, but it will provide neither bail nor legal counsel.

Article V: JUDICIAL POLICIES
(See Appendix G for Chart of General Disciplinary Process)

A. Complaints and Charges

1. Any member of the College community may bring a complaint against any student for misconduct. Complaints shall be directed to a Senior Judicial Advisor. Complaints should be submitted as soon as possible after the event takes place, preferably within seven days of the event.

2. The Senior Judicial Advisor may conduct an investigation to determine if the complaint has merit or if it can be disposed of administratively by mutual consent of the parties involved on a basis acceptable to the Senior Judicial Advisor. Such disposition shall be final and there shall be no subsequent proceedings. If the complaint cannot be disposed of by mutual consent, the Judicial Advisor may later serve in the same matter as the judicial hearing body or a member thereof.

3. All charges stemming from complaints or other evidence of code violation shall be presented to the accused student in written form by a Judicial Advisor. A time shall be set for a hearing, not more than fifteen calendar days after the student has been notified, unless medical or mental health treatment makes the student unavailable for the hearing. Then it shall be within five class days of discharge from a hospital or facility of care. The student may request the charges seven days before the hearing in order to prepare a defense. A student may elect an informal hearing with the Judicial Advisor at the time charges are presented. Maximum time limits for scheduling of hearings may be extended at the discretion of a Senior Judicial Advisor.

B. Hearings

1. Students have the right to request a hearing with the judicial hearing body of their choosing: an informal hearing with a student dean, resident director, or faculty member, or a formal hearing with the Student Discipline Committee as the judicial hearing body. A student dean, resident director, or faculty member has the right to decline serving as the judicial hearing body. Also, the dean of Judicial Affairs may decide to refer a case to the Student Discipline Committee.

2. Hearings conducted by student deans, resident directors, and faculty members in their capacity as judicial hearing body shall be considered informal hearings. Students may request hearings with deans, resident directors, and faculty members for reasons of confidentiality and speed. Accused students who choose an informal hearing may be assisted by an advisor of their own choosing from the college community (faculty member, student, staff member).

3. Hearings conducted by the Student Discipline Committee as judicial hearing body are considered formal hearings and shall be conducted according to the following guidelines:
   a. Hearings normally shall be conducted in private.
   b. Admission of any person to the hearing must be pre-approved by the judicial hearing body or its Judicial Advisor.
   c. In hearings involving more than one accused student, the chairperson of the judicial hearing body, in his or her discretion, may permit the hearings concerning each student to be conducted separately.
   d. The complainant (member of the College community making complaint to a Senior Judicial Advisor which results in charges presented to the accused student) and the accused each have the right to be assisted by an advisor of their own choosing from the College community (faculty member, student, staff member). The complainant and the accused are responsible for presenting their own cases. Hence, their advisors may not represent them. Rather, the role of the advisor is to accompany the student, advise him or her during the hearing process, and offer a statement on behalf of the student if so requested.
   e. The complainant, the accused, and the judicial hearing body shall have the privilege of presenting witnesses, subject to the right of cross examination by the judicial hearing body. Any questions of potential cross-examination by the complainant or accused should be directed to the chair of the judicial hearing body for consideration.
   f. Accused students have the right to examine all material evidence prior to the time of their hearings. They also have the right to know whether there will be personal testimony against them, but they do not have the right to know the names of witnesses prior to the hearing. Students do have the right to be present during the presentation of evidence and the hearing of testimony, to question the testimony of witnesses and to argue the adequacy of the evidence.
g. Pertinent records, exhibits, and written statements may be accepted as evidence for consideration by a judicial hearing body at the discretion of the chairperson.
h. All procedural questions are subject to the final decision of the chairperson of the judicial hearing body.
i. After the hearing and all parties are dismissed from the proceedings, the judicial hearing body shall determine by majority vote whether the student has violated each section of the Student Code, which the student is charged with violating.
j. The Student Conduct Board’s determination shall be made on the basis of whether it is more likely than not that the Accused Student violated the Student Code.
k. Formal rules of process, procedure, and/or technical rules of evidence, such as are applied in criminal or civil court, are not used in Student Code proceedings.
l. Complainants will be notified of the decision of the judicial hearing body after the accused has been informed of the decision.
m. The Student Discipline Committee can hold session as a judicial hearing body with a quorum of two faculty members and three students. If this quorum cannot be obtained, based on the timing of case related to the academic calendar, then a senior judicial officer shall hear the case.

4. There shall be a single written record of all hearings, whether formal or informal, which will normally consist of the statement of alleged misconduct, a summary of the evidence presented in the hearing, a summary of the statement of the accused, and an exact copy of the decision. The record shall be the property of the College and forwarded to the Vice President for Student Life whose office shall be the repository for all records. There shall be a single verbatim record, such as a tape recording, of all Student Conduct Board Hearings before a Student Conduct Board. Deliberations shall not be recorded. The record shall be the property of the College.

5. Except in the case of a student charged with failing to obey the summons of a judicial hearing body or College official, no student may be found to have violated the Student Code solely because the student failed to appear before a judicial hearing body. In all cases, the evidence in support of the charges shall be presented and considered.

6. Any person who is personally involved in a case, or who would be called upon to act as witness in a case, or has some other conflict of interest must abstain from functioning as the judicial hearing body, or as a member of the judicial hearing body. The exception would be a faculty member who brings charges of academic dishonesty and functions as the judicial hearing body.

C. Rule of Evidence
A judicial hearing body’s determination shall be made on the basis of whether it is more likely than not that the accused student violated the Student Conduct Code (preponderance of evidence, rather than beyond a reasonable doubt, as burden of proof).

D. Academic Dishonesty  (See Article I, 13, 14, and Article V. E. 2)
The student-faculty relationship is based on trust and mutual respect, which can be seriously undermined, by the suspicion or reality of academic dishonesty. The procedure listed below (point 1) is the normal process for adjudicating cases of alleged academic dishonesty. In cases of admitted academic dishonesty, a faculty member may impose an academic sanction without a hearing. Faculty members must report all cases to the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs.

1. In all cases of alleged academic dishonesty, faculty members must in writing or in person present the student with the charges and evidence of dishonesty.
2. Faculty should always check with the Dean of Judicial Affairs to determine whether prior cases of academic dishonesty have been recorded.

3. If the student does not contest the charge, the faculty member will operate as the hearing officer and deliver the sanction. If the student does not contest the sanction, the case will be closed and a report shall be filed with the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs. In the event the student contests the sanction, the student may appeal the sanction according to the appeal procedure of Article VII of the Student Handbook. The faculty shall report the charges and sanction by the standard form on the website to the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs within five class days of the sanction being given to the student.

4. If the student contests the charges of academic dishonesty, the faculty member shall within five class days refer the case to the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs and report the alleged misconduct in writing and provide all the supporting evidence. The student will be contacted by the appropriate dean as decided by the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs and proceed through the judicial process as found in Article V.B.

5. Implementation of any sanction shall be the responsibility of the faculty member bringing the charges and the judicial officer or body hearing the matter.

6. A written record of the academic dishonesty case including the sanction shall be submitted to the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs within five class days of the decision.

7. If it is not possible to convene a quorum of two faculty members and three students, then a senior judicial officer or the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs shall hear the case. This may occur, for example, if the violation occurs late in the semester, between terms, or during the summer.

E. Sanctions
The purpose of sanctions is to help students understand their behavior in the context of the college community and to deter such inappropriate behavior in the future. Judicial bodies are encouraged to decide sanctions that are commensurate with the misconduct and that include an educational element since education may be the most appropriate means to addressing code violations within an educational community. Some sanctions will need to be more punitive due to the seriousness of the offense.

1. The following sanctions may be imposed upon any student found to have violated the Student Code:
   a. Admonition - An oral statement to the student that s/he is violating or has violated institutional rules.
   b. Warning - A notice in writing to the student that the student is violating or has violated institutional regulations.
   c. Personal Probation - A written reprimand for violation of specified regulations. Personal probation is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe disciplinary sanctions if the student is found to be violating any institutional regulation(s) during the probationary period. Personal probation status may affect a student’s ability to travel on an off-campus program or interim and may affect an athlete’s eligibility.
   d. Loss of Privileges - Denial of specified privileges for a designated period of time.
   e. Fines - Previously established and published fines may be imposed.
   f. Restitution - Compensation for loss, damage, or injury. This may take the form of appropriate service and/or monetary or material replacement.
   g. Community Service - an assignment of appropriate community service that is both beneficial to the community and likely to assist the individual in understanding the harm caused by his or her misconduct.
h. Parent/Guardian Notification – notification of parents or guardians in all cases of alcohol or drug policy violations, abuse or injury to self, or in conjunction with disciplinary probation, suspension from campus housing, or college suspension.

i. Discretionary Sanctions - Participation in classes or assignments designed to address decision-making and consequences of behavioral choices within a Christian educational community; mandatory drug or alcohol assessments, or other related discretionary assignments (such assignments must have the prior approval of a Senior Judicial Advisor).

j. Disciplinary probation - a written reprimand for violation of specified regulations and likely notification of parents. It includes the probability that the student will be suspended from the College if the student is found to be violating any institutional regulation(s) during the disciplinary probation period. Students placed on disciplinary probation are excluded from participation in leadership roles in student organizations, membership on an intercollegiate athletic team, and/or participation in other privileged institutional activities (e.g., off-campus programs).

k. Suspension from Campus Housing – Separation of the student from on-campus housing (residence halls or apartments) for a definite period of time, after which the student is eligible to return. Conditions for return to on-campus housing may be specified.

l. College Suspension - Separation of the student from the College for a definite period of time, after which the student is eligible to return. Conditions for readmission may be specified. Parents of students shall be notified of the suspension sanction by the Senior Judicial Officer. During suspension the student is not permitted to be on Calvin College property except by prior permission by a Student Life Dean.

m. College Expulsion - Permanent separation of the student from the College. During expulsion the student is not permitted to be on Calvin College property except by prior permission by a Student Life Dean.

2. The following additional sanctions may be imposed upon any student found to be guilty of academic dishonesty:
   a. Reduced or failing grade for the piece of work involving academic dishonesty.
   b. Repeating the assigned work involving academic dishonesty.
   c. Specified loss of points towards final course grade.
   d. Additional required assignment in lieu of dishonest work.
   e. Failure in the course.

3. More than one sanction (e.g., personal probation and community service) may be imposed for any single violation.

4. Although the sanctions defined in this code may be applied for other than disciplinary reasons, this is a student code of conduct and, as such, it does not presume to define or describe all the situations under which a student may be dismissed from the College. Thus, students may be placed on probation or suspended for academic or for psychological reasons as well as for disciplinary reasons.

5. In each case in which a judicial hearing body determines that a student has violated the Student Code, the sanction(s) shall be determined by the judicial hearing body and imposed by the Judicial Advisor. The judicial hearing body may consider prior violations of the Discipline Code, testimony about the student’s character and academic performance, or relevant information in order to properly determine the sanction. Students shall be informed of such information so as to give them opportunity to speak to its accuracy. Any decision to impose the sanction of suspension or expulsion requires the approval of the Vice President for Student Life before the student is informed of that decision. Following the hearing, the judicial hearing body and the Judicial Advisor shall advise the accused, in writing, of its determination and of the sanction(s) imposed, if any.
6. Other than College expulsion, disciplinary sanctions shall not be made part of the student’s permanent academic record but shall become part of the student’s confidential record. Upon graduation, the student’s confidential record may be expunged of disciplinary actions upon application to the Vice President for Student Life. Cases involving the imposition of sanctions other than College suspension or College expulsion shall be expunged from the student’s confidential record five years after final disposition of the case.

Article VI: PROVISIONAL SUSPENSION
In certain circumstances, the Vice President for Student Life, or a designee, may impose a College suspension prior to the hearing before a judicial hearing body or pending an appeal of a disciplinary decision.

1. Provisional suspension may be imposed:
   a. To ensure the safety and well-being of members of the College community or preservation of College property;
   b. To ensure the student’s own physical or emotional safety and well-being; or
   c. If the student poses a definite threat of disruption or interference with the normal operations of the College.

2. During the provisional suspension, students shall be denied access to the residence halls and/or to the campus (including classes) and/or all other College activities or privileges for which the student might otherwise be eligible, as the Vice President for Student Life or the Senior Judicial Advisor may determine to be appropriate.

Article VII: APPEALS
1. Accused students or complainants may appeal both the decision and the sanction imposed by judicial hearing bodies (student deans, resident directors, and faculty members in informal hearings; the Student Discipline Committee in formal hearings). Students shall submit an appeal form obtained online (http://www.calvin.edu/admin/student_life/forms_policies.htm) or at the office of the Vice President for Student Life. Any and all evidence to support the appeal shall be attached to the appeal form at the time of submission. Such appeals must be presented in writing within five (5) college business days of the sanction decision and shall be presented to the Vice President for Student Life, who serves as ex officio secretary of the Appellate Board. The student shall have an appointment with the Vice President for Student Life prior to the appeal being heard.

2. Except as required to explain the basis of new evidence, an appeal shall be limited to review of the written record of the initial hearing, or verbatim record if one exists, supporting documents, and appropriate interviews with the appellant and judicial hearing body for one or more of the following purposes:
   a. To determine whether the original hearing was conducted fairly in light of the charges and evidence presented, and in conformity with prescribed procedures giving the complaining party a reasonable opportunity to prepare and present evidence that the Student Conduct Code was violated, and giving the accused student a reasonable opportunity to prepare and to present a rebuttal of those allegations.
   b. To determine whether the decision reached regarding the accused student was based on substantial evidence, that is, whether the facts in the case were sufficient to establish that a violation of the Student Code occurred.
   c. To determine whether the sanction(s) imposed were appropriate for the violation of the Student Code which the student was found to have committed.
d. To consider new evidence, sufficient to alter a decision, or other relevant facts not brought out in the original hearing, because such evidence and/or facts were not known to the person appealing at the time of the original hearing. (See form.)

3. If an appeal of a student’s guilt is granted by the Appellate Board, the sanction will be lifted immediately.

4. If an appeal of the severity of the sanction is granted, the Appellate Board will impose a modified sanction which will be implemented by the Vice President for Student Life.

5. If an appeal of the student’s guilt or the severity of the sanction is denied by the Appellate Board, it may not impose a more severe sanction(s) for the accused student.

6. The President of the college (or his/her designee) shall be responsible for the final disposition of all cases.

Article VIII: INSTITUTIONAL REVIEW

The Vice President for Student Life, and through her or him, the President of the College, may exercise an institutional review of all decisions. Should it be her or his judgment that the provisions and procedures of this code have in their operation failed to secure the right of the students and the interests of the total community, the Vice President for Student Life may then intervene. Since this would be de facto revocation of the authority and responsibility previously delegated in this code, it may be done only in extraordinary situations of crisis and even then only after the judicial hearing bodies in this code have done their work.

Article IX: GRIEVANCE, INTERPRETATION AND REVISION

1. Complaints of students about the implementation of the provisions and procedures of the code or related policies shall be made to the Vice President for Student Life.

2. Any question of interpretation regarding the Student Code shall be referred to the Vice President for Student Life or his or her designee for final determination.

3. The Student Code shall be reviewed every three years under the direction of the Vice President for Student Life and the Senior Judicial Advisors.

4. Adoption and revision require approval by Student Senate, Faculty Senate, and the Board of Trustees.

Taken from the Student Conduct Code, Article VII: Appeals

Please check the appropriate box that describes the rationale for why you are choosing to appeal. Please attach any statements or other information that supports your appeal.

☐ To determine whether the original hearing was conducted fairly in light of the charges and evidence presented, and in conformity with prescribed procedures giving the complaining party a reasonable opportunity to prepare and present evidence that the Student Conduct Code was violated, and giving the accused student a reasonable opportunity to prepare and to present a rebuttal of those allegations.

☐ To determine whether the decision reached regarding the accused student was based on substantial evidence, that is, whether the facts in the case were sufficient to establish that a violation of the Student Conduct Code occurred.

☐ To determine whether the sanction(s) imposed were appropriate for the violation of the Student Conduct Code which the student was found to have committed.

☐ To consider new evidence, sufficient to alter a decision or other relevant facts not brought out in the original hearing, because such evidence and/or facts were not known to the person appealing at the time of the original hearing.
APPENDIX C
POLICY STATEMENT ON DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT

Introduction

Part of the three-fold purpose of Calvin College is "to perform all our tasks as a caring and diverse community." The members of this community are part of a unity that transcends boundaries of personal characteristics. We are a communion of saints in which each member contributes to the service and support of the other members. Each person, faculty, staff and student who has chosen to join the Calvin community thereby declares he or she is willing to uphold the community's stated standards of conduct.

This policy statement on discrimination and harassment explicitly states our community's commitment to treat all its members with dignity and respect as image-bearers of the Creator. Discrimination, harassment, and retaliation which violate this policy will not be tolerated and will be subject to disciplinary action.

Policy Statement

Calvin College prohibits unlawful discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, religion, disability, gender, marital status, sexual orientation or other characteristics protected by federal, state or local statute or ordinance.

Calvin College affirms its commitment to maintaining a learning, working, and living environment which is fair, respectful, and free from harassment. Calvin College will apply this policy to all persons who are members of the faculty, staff, or student body. This policy expressly applies to forms of harassment which are prohibited by federal, state or local statute or ordinance. In addition, there are other forms of improper harassment, based on characteristics which are not protected by these statutes. It is the policy of Calvin College that, although such harassment may not be expressly prohibited by law, such harassment nevertheless has no place here and will be subject to disciplinary action. Illustrative examples include harassment based upon physical appearance or social or economic status.

No one at the college may retaliate in any way against a person who makes a report of discrimination or harassment.

Prohibited Conduct

It is a violation of this policy to engage in any of the following conduct:

1. Unlawful discrimination in providing employment or educational opportunities, benefits or privileges; the creation of unlawful discriminatory work or educational conditions, or the use of unlawful discriminatory evaluation standards in employment or education if the basis of that treatment is, in whole or in part, the person's race, color, national origin, age, religion, disability, gender, marital status, sexual orientation or other characteristics protected by law or this policy.

2. Harassment is severe or repeated unwelcome sexual advances or verbal comments of a sexual nature or verbal or physical conduct that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual because of his/her legally protected characteristic, or other personal characteristic which is covered by this policy.

Harassment includes:

a. Unwelcome conduct or language which creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment, including epithets, slurs or negative stereotyping; threatening, intimidating, derogatory, or hostile acts; denigrating jokes; written or graphic material that degrades or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual or group. It also includes interfering with or blocking a person's legitimate movement or access in the classroom or workplace, the use of profanity to convey hostility toward others and pranks or horseplay intended to embarrass or humiliate others.

b. Making submission to unwelcome sexual advances, submission to requests for sexual favors, or submission to other unwelcome verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature a condition of any person's employment or association with the College. It also includes making submission to, or rejection of, such conduct the basis for decisions affecting a person's employment or academic status or opportunity, for examples, decisions regarding salary increases, promotions, transfers, evaluations, etc., and decisions regarding grades, recommendations, admissions, fellowships or other opportunities, etc.

c. Retaliation against anyone for reporting discrimination or harassment or for participation in an investigation of a claim of harassment or discrimination.

Reporting, Investigation and Remedial Action
The College encourages the reporting of all perceived incidents of discrimination, harassment or retaliation regardless of the offender's identity or position. If you believe you have been the victim of conduct prohibited by this policy or witnessed such conduct, you should discuss your concerns as follows:

- Students ordinarily will bring reports to the dean of students for judicial affairs. This would apply to student reports concerning faculty, staff, or fellow students.
- Staff ordinarily will report to the director of human resources.
- Faculty members ordinarily will report to an academic dean.

If the circumstances make it inappropriate to discuss the matter with the person designated above, the matter may be brought to any of the other persons listed above.

While there is no specific reporting time, early reporting and intervention are the most effective method of resolving actual or perceived incidents of harassment.

In addition to reporting the behavior, persons who believe they are being subjected to such conduct may, either alone or with a colleague, advise the offender that his or her behavior is unwelcome and request that it be discontinued. Prompt notice often can resolve the problem. The College recognizes, however, that an individual may prefer to use only the reporting procedure described above.

Reported allegations of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation will be promptly and thoroughly investigated. Confidentiality will be maintained consistent with an adequate and thorough investigation and appropriate corrective action. At any time after a report is made, an informal resolution process may be suggested. However, participation in such a process is voluntary, and if the reporting person or the accused declines, the formal procedure will continue.

Complaints against faculty will be processed according to the procedures in the Handbook for Teaching Faculty (Section 6.1). Complaints against staff will be processed according to the procedures in the Staff Handbook. Complaints against students will be processed according to the procedures in the Student Handbook. Complaints against other persons, such as visitors or third party suppliers doing business within the Calvin community, will be processed in a manner suitable for the circumstances, as determined by the College.

Individuals found to have violated this policy will be subject to disciplinary action which may include sanctions up to and including termination of employment or enrollment.
False Complaints
The College will seriously investigate all complaints. However, it also recognizes that false complaints are likely to cause significant damage to the person and reputation of an individual who is wrongfully accused. Individuals found to have knowingly made false complaints will be subject to disciplinary action which may include sanctions up to and including termination of employment or enrollment.
A complaint which is erroneous, but was made in good faith, will not be subject to disciplinary action.

First Amendment Considerations
Calvin College is a Christian institution situated within the Reformed tradition. As such, the College may, under the Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and various relevant statutes, lawfully discriminate on the basis of religious and confessional criteria in its hiring, personnel practices and admissions. One example is the College's use of religious faith, confessional commitments and church membership as conditions of employment for faculty and administrators with faculty status. Another example relates to sexual conduct. Though it is the College's policy to assure equal opportunity in its hiring, personnel practices and admissions without regard to marital status or sexual orientation, sexual relations outside of marriage are proscribed (see e.g., Handbook for Teaching Faculty - Section 6.1.2). Marriage is understood by the College and the Christian Reformed Church, with which it is affiliated, to be a covenantal union between a man and a woman.

The policies and procedures set forth in this document do not abrogate the College's rights under the First Amendment or relevant statutes, nor do they limit the ability of the College to take disciplinary action against members of the community who violate the College's legitimate requirements or standards of behavior.

APPENDIX D
CALVIN COLLEGE SEXUAL ASSAULT POLICY

Introduction
Sexual assault is an attack on personal dignity, an impediment to educational goals, and a violation of both biblical precepts and criminal law. Calvin College affirms its commitment to maintaining a learning and living environment which is fair, respectful, and free of sexual assault.

Sexual Assault is Prohibited
Calvin College does not tolerate any acts or threats of sexual assault or physical assault whether directed at males or females, someone known or unknown (including date or acquaintance rape), which involves use of force or coercion, without consent or when a person is incapable of consent. (Student Conduct Code, Article IV.B.4.) The College prohibits all sexual behavior that is an abuse of power, status, or influence over another. Untolerated conduct includes behavior defined by the Criminal Sexual Conduct Law (CSC) for the State of Michigan and other relevant laws of sexual abuse or indecency. Being under the influence of alcohol or drugs does not absolve the perpetrator of personal responsibility for his/her actions. (See Appendix E)

Any person in this College community in violation of this policy is subject to disciplinary action and sanctions of the College, notwithstanding any action that may or may not be taken by civil authorities.
Definition of Sexual Assault
The definition of sexual assault differs by state. A complete detail of the Michigan law can be found at http://www.courts.michigan.gov/mji/resources/sabb/sabb.htm

Calvin defines sexual assault for college purposes as any sexual contact or activity forced upon a non-consenting person. This may include penetration of any body opening, touching sexual areas of the body, or attempting to penetrate or touch these areas. In some cases, this may involve force. Force may include, but is not limited to, the use of or display of a weapon, physical battering or immobilization of the other person.

Consent shall be defined as the act of willingly and verbally agreeing to engage in specific sexual contact or conduct. Psychologically pressuring or coercing an individual or any attempt to take advantage of an individual under duress or when incapable of making a decision on his or her own is a direct violation of the policy. Individuals under the influence of alcohol, drugs and/or certain prescribed medications cannot give consent to sexual activity under Calvin College policy.

The College’s Response
Calvin College hereby affirms its commitment to promote relevant educational efforts and programs, publicize clear procedures for victims, and respond to reports of sexual assault with appropriate procedures of discipline.

I. Educational Efforts and Programs
   A. Educational programs on rape prevention are offered for first year students and other on-campus residents each academic year. Material covered includes procedures to follow if a sexual offense occurs, the importance of preserving evidence, and to whom the offense may be reported. Periodically rape prevention programs are also presented to commuter students and to those attending off-campus interims and semester programs.
   B. A course of women’s self-defense is offered for credit by the HPERDS Department. Also, all students must take PE 104 which includes a unit on rape and date rape.
   C. Brochures on rape and acquaintance rape are available in Health Services, and the Broene Counseling Center. Similar information is available on-line at calvin.edu.
   D. A comprehensive and detailed guide entitled “In Case of Sexual Assault: What You Need to Know” is available on-line at http://www.calvin.edu/admin/broene/sapt/in_case_of_sexual_assault.htm. This brochure addresses medical examination and collection of evidence, police contact and what prosecution involves, the process of bringing charges through the college disciplinary procedure, telling family and significant others, and seeking professional counseling. It also lists campus and community resources.
   E. Information regarding Calvin’s Sexual Assault Prevention Team (SAPT) is posted on-line at http://www.calvin.edu/admin/broene/sapt/. Further information on the SAPT, personal safety, and response to rape are available on-line in the Student Handbook (http://www.calvin.edu/admin/student_life/forms_policies.htm).
   F. Books, videos, and other educational materials are available in the Broene Counseling Center and in the Hekman Library. These speak to a range of sexual offenses including stranger rape, acquaintance rape, and sexual harassment.

II. Rights and Options for Victims of Sexual Assault
   A. The victim of sexual assault is urged to utilize the Broene Counseling Center or an off-campus agency of his/her choice such as the YWCA Sexual Assault Program.
B. Calvin College affirms the right of the victim of sexual assault to make a report to appropriate on-campus and/or off-campus authorities and conveys this to each victim.

C. Calvin College encourages the victim of sexual assault to report the incident to the Dean of Judicial Affairs and to consider campus action if the perpetrator is another student or Calvin employee. In some situations such as date rape, the victim may fear being blamed or disciplined for the rape if, for example, he/she had been drinking. However, the Student Life Division is committed to sensitive and fair handling of such situations with healing, safety of others, and justice as primary concerns.

III. Procedures for Campus Action

A. The student considering formal charges of sexual assault against another student may seek counsel from their Resident Director, any Student Life Dean, or any of the counselors in the Broene Counseling Center regarding procedures and options. He or she may wish to consult the Student Conduct Code regarding disciplinary procedures. Complaints may be filed with the Dean of Students for Judicial Affairs.

B. The complainant and the accused both have rights which include, among others, the following:
   1. The right of the complainant to request consideration of a change in living arrangements or other modifications to avoid forced contact with the accused.
   2. Both the complainant and the accused are entitled to be accompanied by a current member of the Calvin community (faculty member, staff, or student) who can provide support during the disciplinary proceedings.
   3. Both the accused and the complainant have the right to be informed in a timely manner of the disposition of the case.

C. The college’s burden of proof is based on the preponderance of evidence rather than beyond a reasonable doubt which is required for a conviction on criminal charges.

D. Sanctions for sexual assault can extend over the entire range of sanctions, including expulsion or suspension from the college, depending on the severity of the offense. (Student Conduct Code, Art. V. E. Sanctions)

Criminal Sexual Conduct (CSC) Law for the State of Michigan

The essence of Michigan law is summarized below:

Stated as - "Use of force or coercion to penetrate oral, vaginal, or anal body cavity of a person who has not consented or is incapable of consent."

1. Force or Coercion -
   Force is the physical overpowering of another individual which results in a sexual experience.
   Coercion is the manipulation of another individual which results in a sexual experience. For example:
   • Talking someone into having sex
   • Using alcohol as a tool to break down sexual reluctance
   • Threatening to harm someone
   • Not letting someone leave a room and/or locking a door so they can't leave

2. Penetration -
   Penetration does not just refer to the penis being penetrated in the vagina. The law states that any body cavity, as listed above, that is penetrated by another body part (fingers, for example) or an object is illegal.
3. Consent -

Consent is a clear, freely given, verbalized "yes" to each step of the sexual/intimate experience. The absence of "no" is not consent. Furthermore, a verbalized "yes" which has been coerced, as in the examples above, does not constitute a freely given "yes". In such cases, consent has not been given, and one who continues to have a sexual experience without this consent potentially could be charged with a Criminal Sexual Conduct charge.

Four reasons a person cannot give consent

1. An individual cannot consent to a sexual experience if they are under the influence of alcohol and/or other drugs according to the law. A person is not considered to be of "sound mind and body" and therefore, cannot consent legally to a sexual experience.

2. An individual who is 15 years of age or under is considered a minor under this law and is not considered legally able to consent to a sexual experience. If an individual 16 yrs. or older engages in a sexual experience with someone 15 yrs or younger, that is Statutory Rape regardless of whether the minor agreed to the experience or not. A parent or legal guardian of the minor can press charges against the adult even if the minor consented to the experience.

3. An individual who is legally determined to be mentally-handicapped is not capable of consenting to a sexual experience according to the CSC law for Michigan.

4. In kindergarten through 12th grade settings, students cannot give consent or have sex with teachers or school employees.

Four Degrees of CSC for the State of Michigan

1. First Degree - Felony
   Includes penetration and aggravation. Aggravation is any personal injury to the victim other than the penetration itself. This could include any physical injury occurring to the victim or any emotional trauma or mental anxiety the victim experiences as a result of the incident.

2. Second Degree - Felony
   Includes sexual contact and aggravation. Sexual contact is any touch of sexual nature which has not been consented to (touching, fondling, etc.). It includes touching someone's butt, a female's breasts, grabbing a guy's penis.

3. Third Degree - Felony
   Penetration only.

4. Fourth Degree - Misdemeanor
   Sexual contact only. This includes grabbing/touching a female's breasts, or grabbing a guy's penis. This is against the law whether or not penetration or aggravation occurred.

APPENDIX E

CALVIN COLLEGE STANDARDS FOR USE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Listed below are the standards of the Calvin College community regarding the use of alcoholic beverages. The context for these community standards is that Calvin College expects all students to comply with the State of Michigan laws about alcoholic beverages. In the State of Michigan, persons under the age of 21 shall not purchase, consume, or possess alcoholic beverages. In addition, it is against Michigan law to sell or furnish alcoholic beverages to persons less than 21 years of age. The goal of the community is that students will make responsible choices about whether or not to use alcoholic beverages. A responsible choice will vary from individual to individual. Because most Calvin students are under the legal drinking age, their choice should be abstinence; for those of legal drinking age, it should be abstinence or moderation. A few must choose abstinence because of their high risk for alcoholism. The laws of the State of Michigan and the community standards ought to guide student decisions about alcoholic beverage use. Students who fail to respect these laws and standards risk the sanctions of this community.
A. Possession and Consumption

Calvin College prohibits the possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages on college premises and in authorized college activities off college premises. The college also expects students who are underage to comply with State of Michigan laws regarding the possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages.

B. Alcohol Containers

Calvin College prohibits the possession of empty alcoholic beverage containers anywhere on college premises including vehicles.

C. Intoxication

Calvin College expects students of legal drinking age who choose to drink alcoholic beverages to be moderate in their consumption. Any consumption of alcoholic beverages by any age student that results in impairment or intoxication is a violation of Biblical and Calvin community standards.

D. Hosting Responsibilities

Calvin College expects students of legal drinking age, who choose to serve alcoholic beverages to student guests in off campus settings or who choose to host bring-your-own-beverage functions, to be responsible in their hospitality. Hosts are expected to assume bartender monitoring for all present where alcohol is being consumed. It is a violation of both Michigan law and community standards to serve alcoholic beverages to underage guests or to require any guest to pay a cover charge for admission to the host’s residence. It is a violation of community standards to allow student guests 21 years of age or older to drink alcoholic beverages excessively.

The severity of the sanction will reflect the seriousness of the incident and the student’s history of previous violations. Sanctions will range from personal probation to disciplinary probation, usually coupled with community service hours, an alcohol-education class, special assignments, or monetary fines up to $100. At the time of any disciplinary hearing for an alcohol violation, the Judicial Advisor will determine if an alcohol assessment is indicated and, if so, the student will be required to participate in the assessment if it is included in the disciplinary sanction. Repeated violations may result in suspension.

APPENDIX F

USE OF TECHNOLOGY POLICIES

As a user of Calvin information technology resources it is your responsibility to be aware of Calvin's policies on using Calvin's information technologies and federal, state, and local laws that affect your use of technology. As a Christian College, what might be allowed under the law may not be allowed at Calvin. For information as to what Calvin expects of you, what your rights are and how to report policy violations please see http://www.calvin.edu/it/itpolicies/responsibleuse.htm.
STUDENT ID CARDS

Each student, upon arrival at Calvin, is issued a free picture ID card. If a student loses the ID card, s/he should report to the Student Life Office located in the Spoelhof Center. The replacement fee for a lost ID is $20.00; $15 will be returned if your ID is found and returned within ten business days. Broken or non-functioning cards can be replaced for $5. Replacement cards are given for free if a year or more has passed since the last card's print date. Cards are not alterable or transferable to other students for any reason, including meal plan use. Attempts to do so could result in disciplinary procedures and/or a fine up to $50.00.

SUNDAY REST

We encourage students to use Sunday as a day of worship, rest, and renewal, setting aside homework and enjoying the day to play, sleep, be with friends, and be involved in a local church community. Because of this, the library is closed on Sundays and the Campus Ministries office provides information on many local churches who would love to welcome students.

Every Sunday evening during the academic year, the LOFT service (Living Our Faith Together) is held at 8:00p.m. This service includes singing, praying, preaching, and monthly celebrations of the Lord’s Supper. The worship is planned and led by student worship leaders under the direction of the Campus Ministries staff. More information on LOFT and the Campus Ministries department can be found at www.calvin.edu/faith.

USING CALVIN'S NAME

When members of the college community are compelled to speak out publicly either in print or in person on issues in society, the public sometimes identifies these persons as representatives of the college community. To avoid such misunderstandings, the following guidelines are adopted:

1. When students identify themselves as students of the college, they should make it clear that they do not necessarily represent the view of the college.
2. Organizations may use the name of Calvin College when they are performing the functions stated in their constitution. The organizations should make it clear that it represents only the view of the organization. Individuals who represent organizations should obviously seek the approval of the organization they represent before action is taken. The action should be in harmony with the guiding principles of Calvin College.
