March 2024 Newsletter

Reflecting Faith: Image of God Course

In May, scholars from around the world will be joining an online course to explore the image of God in Scripture. The course, led by Calvin's professor of biblical studies, will focus on understanding how viewing humans is image-bearers might inform your own work in Scripture and the Christian tradition as well as interacting with others who take the course together.

Register for the Kuyper Conference

Register now for the 2024 Kuyper Conference, taking place on June 14th. The conference will feature a keynote address by Dr. Antoine Theron and a panel discussion on "Stewardship in the Kingdom: Business, Academy, and Society." Register now for this exciting event.

Post-Docs and Academic Publishing

Would you like to learn more about academic publishing? Our latest issue of the Neocalviniana Journal Introduction offers insights into how we engage with the marketplace and public square. Join a community of scholars, pastors, ministry professionals, andlaypeople at the Kuyper Conference, taking place May 16th-18th, to discuss the latest research in the fields of theology, religion, and philosophy. Register now for the conference and learn more about the Neocalviniana Journal Introduction.

Cohort Registration for Reflecting Faith Courses

Are you looking for ways to encourage dialogue among your colleagues about topics related to faith and higher education? Consider signing up as a group for a Reflecting Faith course. Faculty who take a course together find that it spurs a new level of engagement and understanding of faith and higher education. The cost is $100 but discounts are available for groups of five or more. Learn more about the Reflecting Faith courses and register online.

Stay Informed by Following Us on LinkedIn

Follow us on LinkedIn to stay up to date with the latest news and events from Calvin University. Like us on Facebook for more updates and resources. Visit our website, learn.calvin.edu, to learn more.

Contact us

Have a question? Contact us at dvi@calvin.edu or call 616-526-6364. We look forward to staying in touch with you regularly!