Some of the FALL 2019 1-credit CCE options

IDIS 290 “Black Lives Matter” taught by Eric Washington

Black Lives Matter is a Cross-Cultural Experience course that engages the writing of Black writers historically and in contemporary times. In reading and discussing these texts, we will discuss the value and meaning of Black Life.

IDIS 290 “Intergroup Dialogue-Hot Topics” taught by Christina Edmondson and Penny Dykstra-Pruim

Intergroup dialogue is an approach to talking with and learning from cultural others. To create this type of learning space, we seek a diverse group of students to participate in the course: USA majority culture, AHANA, and international students. We will explore together hot topics in the USA as we learn about and practice intergroup dialogue. Completing and passing this course fulfills the CCE graduation requirement. 1 credit. Pass/fail. Please email cce@calvin.edu to request this course and indicate how you identify culturally. The student cohort for this course will be selected and notified of acceptance as soon as possible.

IDIS 290 “Muslim Neighbors and Christian Hospitality” taught by Doug Howard and Penny Dykstra-Pruim

Build knowledge and awareness of our Muslim Neighbors through exploring Islam as a religion, elements of Islamic cultures, worship practices, and our local Muslim communities. Learning about cultural identities and Christian hospitality lays a groundwork for approaching this learning opportunity. Expectations include engagement with selected chapters or short texts, guest speakers, in-class discussions, a visit to a mosque, and direct engagement with some of our Muslim neighbors. This course is designated CCE-integral. 1-credit. Pass/fail.

INTERIM 2020 CCE options

IDIS 290 “Worship and Culture Worldwide (1credit) taught by CICW staff

Meet people from 5 continents. Learn about how theology comes to life in worship practices in a variety of cultural contexts. Learn how worship practices are a "means of grace" by which the Holy Spirit forms us as disciples of Jesus Christ. Explore tools for promoting cross-cultural understanding. Anticipate the joy of worship with people from all tribes and tongues in the fullness of God's coming kingdom.

IDIS 290 “Medicine in China” (3 credits) taught by Anding Shen

This course will introduce students to Traditional Chinese medicine (TCM) and Chinese culture, including Chinese history, philosophy and contemporary issues. Students will be taught by native Chinese instructors and will have the opportunities to interact with Chinese students. The course consists of lectures, discussions, presentations, independent projects and field trips, including a visit to a local Chinese church and to Chicago Chinatown. This course fulfills the CCE requirement.
IDIS 290 “Cultural Selves” (1 credit) taught by Alisa Tigchelaar

This course takes as its point of departure David Smith’s Learning from the Stranger, in which he applies biblical mandates to engage with and learn from others to a transnational context, reminding us that local and global awareness are interconnected and inform one another. Likewise, national and international students are invited to lend their voices to the class, and we apply what we learn together to the context in which we all now live. The US application is broad, touching on groups such as recent immigrants, historical minorities, aging Americans and the differently abled, to give all class members an opportunity to gain awareness about human beings that are different from them.

SPRING 2020 1-credit CCE options

IDIS 290 “Disability: Rights and Pride” taught by Kevin Timpe

This course will introduce students to the disability rights movement, the concept of ‘disability pride,’ and aspects of disability culture. Students will learn how individuals with disabilities have had to actively campaign for civil rights and legal protections, and how that struggle continues to shape communities impacted by disabilities. We will also explore ways to make our communities more accessible and welcoming to people with disabilities.

CMS-251-B “Christian Community Development” taught by Todd Cioffi

This course will explore the best practices of urban ministry in America by examining the principles of Christian community development. These principles are taken from the Christian Community Development Association, which is a loose affiliation of churches, non-profit ministries, and individuals who work in urban communities or other areas of need throughout the United States. This course will include a variety of readings, several reading reflections, two field trips (Saturday mornings) to local CCD ministries, and a final project based on the field trips. CCE credit will be given to students who take this class. Professor Todd Cioffi. The class will meet on Mondays, 2:30 - 3:20, but will not meet every week, given the time given to the field trips.

IDIS 290 “ Minority Voices in Science” taught by Dave Warners and Margaret Caulfield

This seminar course will engage students in discussions, readings, and other activities to explore the lived experience of being a student from a non-majority culture at Calvin College. Topics of personal identity, white privilege, historical racism, affirmative action, and minority representation in the sciences, etc. will be covered. Students will be encouraged to process their specific experiences as minority students in the sciences at Calvin, and also help to generate ideas for how to strengthen and enliven our campus community. This course fulfills the CCE requirement.

IDIS 192 “Crossing Cultures” taught by Sara Vander Bie

This course equips students to engage in relationships with people from a cultural background different from their own. Students who’ve grown up in different cultures will be paired to reflect and share from their different backgrounds. Together, these students will build skills in cross cultural communication through weekly discussions, class activities, and course assignments. This course satisfies the cross-cultural engagement (CCE) core requirement and has limited enrollment by application.

IDIS 290 “Muslim Neighbors and Christian Hospitality” taught by Jeff Bouman and Penny Dykstra-Pruim

Build knowledge and awareness of our Muslim Neighbors through exploring Islam as a religion, elements of Islamic cultures, worship practices, scriptural reasoning, and our local Muslim communities. Learning about cultural identities and Christian hospitality lays a groundwork for approaching this learning opportunity. Expectations include engagement with selected chapters or short texts, guest speakers, in-class discussions, a visit to a mosque, and direct engagement with some of our Muslim neighbors, and interfaith learning outside of class time. This course is designated CCE-integral. 1-credit. Pass/fail.

IDIS 290 “Income Tax Assistance” taught by David Cook

(0 or 1) SP. The focus of this course is the provision of free income tax preparation assistance to qualifying individual taxpayers. The course is integrated with the VITA program, a national program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. Three training sessions take place during interim preparing students to assist clients of a local faith-based non-profit organization associated with diverse lower-income populations. Students will volunteer at least two hours each week from February 1 through April 15. Students seeking CCE credit will participate in discussions on communities of faith and culture, submit weekly journal reports, and complete a reflective paper. CCE core credit is by application. Prerequisites: Sophomore status or above, ACCT 203 or ACCT 204 or permission of instructor.
