Discussing emotions

Use open-ended questions

"Can you tell me a bit about what's going on?"

Reflect thoughts & feelings

"You're thinking that you don't have what it takes to get through this." (thought)

"You're feeling pretty frustrated." (feeling)

Provide empathy & validation

"I've been there too."

"It's okay to be having a hard time – this is hard stuff."

Highlight strengths & successes

"You've made it through hard times before, and I know you can make it through this too."

"You can do this!"

Referring to resources

(ex. CCW screening, workshop, or online tools)

Start with their thoughts & experiences

"Have you thought about visiting the Center for Counseling and Wellness (CCW)?"

Normalize the help-seeking experience

"A lot of students find it helpful to talk to a counselor when they're having these kinds of feelings."

Explore reluctance

"What has gotten in the way of you getting help?"

"What would keep you from talking to a counselor about these things?"

"Could it be worth taking this step even though it is difficult?"

Provide hope & support

"A lot of students use the Center for Counseling and Wellness (CCW) and find it to be really helpful."

"I think the resources at the Center for Counseling and Wellness (CCW) could be really beneficial for you."

"If you'd like, I can help you make the call to schedule an appointment."
