* Beginning in 2017, SAT scores are from the newly revised test. The scores, while still based on a 400-1600 scale, have a different distribution and are not directly comparable to past test scores. A concordance was used to convert the 2017 new SAT score average and quartiles to ones comparable to the old test and are listed below the originals. Another change is that, beginning with the 2017 graduating class, the state of Michigan switched from using the ACT to the new SAT for statewide testing. This resulted in a larger number of our incoming class having SAT scores and fewer having ACT scores than in the past, given that nearly one-half of our incoming class is from Michigan.
