Camp Ao-Wa-Kiya Base Camp Packing List

Your personal comfort and safety depend on your preparedness. Your clothing is your personal shelter, and your layering system is your personal thermostat. Wilderness participants should always ask themselves, “If the temperature becomes freezing, ‘How will I stay warm?’”

If the weather is wet, “How will I stay dry?”

Before spending a lot of money at a gear store (Bill and Paul’s, EMS, Apex Outdoors, REI, Mountain Gear, Sierra Trading Post, Campmor, Etc.), participants have the option to think creatively, borrow, utilize e-bay, and/or shop at thrift stores to keep costs low.

You will not need your phones on the trip, they will be collected by the trip leaders to encourage team growth and development.
